May Not be in Much Longer; Senator Urged

(ASSOCIATED PRESS) PARIS, Feb. 19.—The specter of a crisis on the French exchange market has been revived since the armistice, and the French people are being urged to take action to prevent a repetition of the conditions which have prevailed since the armistice.

People crowded the streets in front of windows and the money market. The situation is not in all cases, but the time has come when the French people must take action to prevent a repetition of the conditions which have prevailed since the armistice.

Mr. L. B. Laforey, in his effort to stabilize the franc, has been successful in some cases, but it is recognized that the situation is not in all cases, but the time has come when the French people must take action to prevent a repetition of the conditions which have prevailed since the armistice.

GARNER TAX PLAN WINS

Mellon Proposal Rejected

Democratic Victory Comes as Republican Rebels Give Support

High Surplus Maximum Gets Approval in Test Vote Taken in House

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The Democratic tax reduction plan won over the Mellon plan in the House acting as committee of the whole today.

The Garner amendment embodying the Democratic surtax and normal tax rates and increased personal exemptions was approved by a vote of 222 to 194. This was not only a majority of those voting, but four more than a majority of the full House membership. The vote was by tellers.

While no record roll call was taken in committee of the house, the action was so decisive as to leave no possibility of a reversal when a roll call is demanded in the House just before final passage of the bill.

The Democratic victory was made possible by the votes of 17 insurgent Republicans, one Independent and one Farmer-Labor member who joined with 203 Democrats in support of the Garner amendment. The insurgent Republicans swung over to the Democratic plan after all efforts to the Republican leaders to obtain a compromise among the majority party groups had proved unsuccessful.

ADVERTISING CLUB AFTER VANDERBILT

Bay City Better Business Bureau Asks Daugherty to Protect Investors

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—The Better Business Bureau of the San Francisco Advertising Club yesterday addressed to State Commissioner of Corporations Daugherty a letter calling attention to what it describes as the wide discrepancy between the claims of Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., publisher of the San Francisco Illustrated Daily Herald and the Los Angeles Daily Illustrated News, as to the amount of advertising in the former paper and the actual amount, as computed by the bureau from the files of the paper. It is set out therein that these claims are being used in a stock-selling campaign by Mr. Vanderbilt and company.

"We are asking that you take such action herein as may be necessary in the premises to protect the public from being misled in its stock purchases from this company."

"This organization (the Advertising Club Bureau) has its great ideal truth in advertising and confidence in business and advertising is undermined and weakened when a newspaper deliberately resorts to truth and deception in the promotion of its own securities."

The communication, signed on behalf of the bureau by Elliott M. Epstein, general counsel, incloses a copy of a letter sent to Mr. Vanderbilt by the bureau on the 6th inst., to which, it is stated, no reply was ever received. This letter states that in an editorial in the Herald on December 24 Mr. Vanderbilt said that "in January (this year) the Herald (advertising) contracts in excess of $100,000" and goes on to show that the Herald, in January, printed 684 inches of advertising which, even at an average rate of $3 per inch, is only about one-fifth of the amount claimed.

BANDIT FIGHTS TILL SLAIN

Gunman, Believed to Have Committed Many Recent Robberies, Killed in Hold-up

Firing his automatic pistol until he dropped dead, a young gunman, about 25 years of age, believed to be the notorious sheepskin bandit credited with a number of daring robberies in Los Angeles recently, was killed in a fight with four deputy sheriffs last night when caught in an attempt to hold up a drug store at 2023 Riverside Drive, Eastdale.

From papers which the officers found on the body, the dead man's name is believed to be R. C. Babcock. The officers also declared they were in possession of information that he once served as a motorcycle officer at a beach city.

The young bandit had committed the robbery of the drug store and was backing out the rear exit, holding the proprietor and his wife at bay with his gun, when the deputies stepped in the door.

Seven shots from the officer's hands, the gunman whirled on them and commenced firing. Deputy Sheriff Fitzgerald and Brooks both opened fire in return. The officer and the bandit emptied their weapons at each other almost point blank.

A bullet struck the gunman. He slipped to his knees but continued firing. Another bullet hit him and he stretched out on the floor but still continued firing over his head. Seven shots from the officer's hands entered his body before he died. Two bullets from the bandit's gun tore their way through Fitzgerald's coat, but neither officer was wounded. The 38-caliber automatic had to be wrenched from the hand of the dead man, so firmly had he grasped it. The body was removed to the undertaker's parlors of Draper & Engemann.

Apparently a user of narcotics, the dead man was believed to have been under the influence of drugs at the time of the fight. He had searched the drug store for narcotics but found none.

ASKED FOR NARCOTICS He entered the drug store.

THIEF GETS BONDS WITH WAD OF GUM

Large Sum in Securities Lifted Through Cashier's Cage in Bank

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Using a stick plastered at one end with a wad of chewing gum, a thief is reported to have stolen $50,000 worth of negotiable United States certificates today by reaching through the cashier's cage of the People's Trust and Savings Bank, 32 North Michigan avenue.

Shortly after noon an express messenger delivered a bundle of fifteen certificates, each valued at $1,000. They were left untrapped on the counter for a quarter of an hour. Then when the cashier returned to him he found that five of the certificates were missing.

The thief had evidently made frantic efforts to steal the ten remaining certificates for each of them was smeared with chewing gum which had apparently failed to stick.

BRITISH GET DREAL SCARE

Trade Blockade Complete

Slow Paralysis of Dockers' Strike Reaches Large Industries

Government Acts to Check Food Prices; Peace Hope Slim

(BY PAUL WILLIAMS) (BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) LONDON, Feb. 19.—Its ports hermetically sealed by the strike of 120,000 general workers, Great Britain on the second day of its most serious labor dispute already has begun to feel the pinch of economic isolation.

There is not another nation in the world so dependent upon the dockers, and the British people are just realizing the enormity of what has been done. For the first time their essential foreign trade is effectively blocked and they are dismayed to learn that this damming of commerce has so quickly touched them individually in their dealings with the butcher, the baker, and the candlestick maker.

There is a genuine alarm at the way the disaffection is spreading to sympathetic unions, whose members handle the goods which came from the docks even before the dockers struck. And the slow paralysis is infecting the large industries engaged in importing and exporting.

TILLET UNWIELDING No hope is contained in the statement of Ben Tillet, guiding the destinies of the transport workers' union, that there is "no likelihood of the strike ceasing for several weeks."

The Minister of Labor did tell the House of Commons today that he believed there might soon be a settlement, but it depends on a change of attitude by one side or the other.

The court of inquiry appointed by the government to study the controversy held a preliminary session today. It will conduct its first public hearing tomorrow. The dockers assert that they are not bound by its findings, but these will be published and the government is counting a great deal upon their effect upon the public and the public's opinion upon the disputants. But many days will elapse before the inquiry is completed.

Faith was expressed in a hastily called meeting of the council of the Trades Union Congress, which settled the rail strike last month, but after listening to the dockers it adopted a resolution congratulating them for their defense of a living wage, and calling upon the affiliated organizations to assist.

JOB OF FEEDING NATION The abrupt rise in prices, of food and meat especially, led to the appointment today by Col. Wedgwood of an undersecretary in the Labor government as chief civil commissioner of the Cabinet's emergency strike committee. Under the Emergency Powers Act of 1920 it has the authority to fix prices and provide regulations for the distribution of foodstuffs. It is now up to them to see that the nation gets enough to eat.

At the great Smith field market there were only 644 tons of meat today against 1041 tons last Tuesday, despite the fact that the tonnage of domestic meat is more than double the usual amount. All the cold storage houses are picked, and meat is withdrawn with difficulty and at personal risk. Live beef has advanced over $40 per head.

Because of the attitude of the employees, the railroads have refused to receive fish for shipment at Grimsby and more than 1000 tons were dumped into the sea. The landing of Norwegian herring has been stopped at Hull, and 2000 girls employed at cleaning are out of work. Danish and Dutch fishing boats no longer are calling at British ports.

SENATOR BATTLES FOR LIFE

Second Operation Brings Relief to Shooting Victim and He is Now Holding His Own

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Senator Greene of Vermont continued his fight for life tonight with attending surgeons announcing that while his condition remained critical, he was holding his own. A second operation was performed which resulted in checking a brain hemorrhage that followed the wound received by the Senator Friday night.

The bullet which struck him was fired during a gun battle between prohibition agents and suspected bootleggers.

With the outcome of the Senator's injuries still doubtful today, U. S. Dist. Atty. Gordon began an investigation into the shooting, examining more than a dozen witnesses.

Also it was indicated that action would be taken through appropriate agencies on receipt of information requested from the District of Columbia Commissioner, and the prohibition unit as to regulations covering the sale and use of firearms.

DEFOLED BY COOLIDGE The President was said to regard the shooting of the Vermont Senator as a most lamentable affair and to have taken steps to ascertain who was to blame, and to make certain that appropriate action be taken to insure against a recurrence of such a situation.

At the same time, Representative Gibson, Republican, Vermont, gave notice that he would ask for an investigation by the House District Committee, of which he is a member, into the alleged promiscuous use of firearms in connection with prohibition enforcement here.

SHOOTING DESCRIBED Representative Sproule of Kansas, who it was learned today, was a witness of the shooting, said he was walking only two or three yards behind Senator Greene when he heard several shots. Seeing the Senator stagger, he ran forward, he said, colliding with two men who were running west on Pennsylvania avenue.

Mr. Sproule said he saw no automatic weapon, and he said he had been reported, and which is said to have contained the men being pursued by the revenue agents.

SENATOR INVOLVED IN NEW OIL SCANDAL DISCLOSURE

Name of Member of Upper House is Found on Books of Stock Brokerage Concern

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The trail of the oil inquiry, after devious ramblings, led directly back today to the United States Senate. When the oil committee met behind closed doors to examine certain records of the Benkart stock brokerage firm of New York, it found the name of a Senator entered there.

DAUGHERTY ASSAILED

Bitter Charges Made in Senate

Attorney-General Adamant in Refusal to Resign Post Under Fire

Senator Wheeler Asserts His Friends Collected Money from Criminals

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—With Atty.-Gen. Daugherty inviting investigation and challenging removal from the Cabinet the campaign to drive him from office opened in the Senate with a sensational speech delivered by his chief accuser, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana.

Mr. Wheeler pictured the Attorney-General as the crony of Harry F. Sinclair and E. L. Doheny who leased the Navy oil reserves and "loaned" Albert B. Fall $25,000.

He charged that Mr. Daugherty has been "guilty of many crimes" and accused him of protecting instead of prosecuting crime and criminals. He asserted that Daugherty had purchased immunity by payments of large sums to Thomas B. Felder, the Attorney-General's associate in the Morse and Smith case, and to Lester Smith, Mr. Daugherty's confidential aide who committed suicide last year under mysterious circumstances.

Mr. Daugherty, the Attorney-General said, was a "defender" of the "Morse and Smith" case, a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, in connection with his professional services for the Doherty interests.

SENATOR CURIOUS Senator Moses asked what legal services he could have rendered "which are worth a retainer of $25,000 and yet are not known to anyone."

"I know his connection with the Morse case was considered hardly professional," continued Senator Moses, "and the feeling is that unless the factor of possible political influence was considered."

Senator Wheeler, in the defense of Mr. Daugherty, said: "We are to gather then," rejoined Senator Moses, "that he was certain his connection was legal and ethical—so he resigned it."

Declaring that the government is purged of everyone having a connection with the "all cases," Senator Republican, branded that Assistant Secretary Roosevelt quit along with Secretary Daugherty.

"If Daugherty should get out, Roosevelt must get out," he said.

ATTACKS REPUBLICANS Charging that some Republican party leaders were "defending" the Doherty and Sinclair case, Senator Harrison referred to an editorial in a recent issue of the National Republican.

George B. Lockwood, editor of the National Republican, issued a statement later in the day in which he said that the statement that the National Republican had "defended" the Sinclair-Doherty case is shown by a reading of the text of the article without garbling or misinterpretation, to be untrue.

COUNSEL AT WORK Members of the government's special oil counsel, Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, today received from President Coolidge their instructions and their commissions, established their offices.

CHURCH UNITY KING'S HOPE

British Sovereign Applauds Help to Unemployed; Expresses Faith in League of Nations

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS) LONDON, Feb. 19.—Replying to addresses presented by the convocations of Canterbury and York today, King George said he was gratified that the convocations had placed foremost among their tasks the vital question of Christian unity.

"It always has been my fervent hope," he said, "that a greater measure of unity might be promoted amongst the different religious communions and I trust your deliberations may be so guided as to lead to closer fellowship among Christian people."

The King deplored the prevailing unemployment and the scarcity of housing and thanked the convocations for their active and operation in measures leading to the improvement of these conditions.

Regarding the League of Nations and the peace of the world, the King said he joined in praying God to give blessings to men of good will "who are earnestly striving to secure the peace of the world."

"To that end I heartily agree with you as to the importance of maintaining between ourselves and our allied people, especially France and the United States of America, those ties of friendship and co-operation so greatly

WILLIAM FLINN, ONCE SENATOR, DIES IN FLORIDA

Col. Forbes's Party's Joyful Junket to Pacific Coast Is Described

VETERANS' HOSPITAL SITE GRAB BEGINS TO FUNCTION

Will Irwin, in Third Part of Expose, Tells Rake-Off Planned and Confidential Code Used

BY WILL IRWIN
This is the third installment of the amazing story of Charles R. Forbes and his handling of the $900,000,000 appropriated by the government for the rehabilitation of American boys wounded in the war. The first installments told how Forbes informed E. H. Mortimer that Congress was about to appropriate $17,000,000 for hospitals and equipment and advised Mortimer to have himself made the agent of companies supplying hospital commodities. Mortimer became the agent of J. W. Thompson and J. W. Black, partners in half a dozen western construction companies, who were in Washington looking for business. Mortimer was to receive 35 per cent of his profits. Forbes gave Mortimer a list of the prospective hospital sites—confidential government data. Meanwhile the Livermore hospital site deal had been put through at tremendous expense. And when Forbes and Mortimer were in Chicago on one of the many merry inspection trips—Mortimer testifies—Forbes asked for a $500,000 loan. Mortimer arranged with the construction company head, Thompson, for $500,000 for Forbes. This, Mortimer told the Senate Committee, he took to the head of the Veterans' Bureau in ten $500 bills. He found Col. Forbes sitting on the floor of his parlor suite in the Drake Hotel shooting craps with a woman. Forbes smiling said he would give Mortimer a note for it.

We left Col. Charles R. Forbes of the Veterans' Bureau and his friend, Elias H. Mortimer, in the Drake Hotel, Chicago, where, according to Mortimer's testimony before the Senate committee, he had lent Col. Forbes $500,000 of Thompson and Black money. Thence they proceeded to the hospital junket and joy ride to the hospital sites of the Pacific Coast. M. L. Sweet, Forbes's private secretary, joined them at Denver. From there on Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer and Sweet were the nucleus of the expedition. Two officials of the Public Health Service accompanied them in a general way, but these men avoided "parties" or automobile joy rides, and attended to business. Other participants in the drama of the Veterans' Bureau flash in and out, however—as Black, of the Thompson-Black combination; O'Brien, supervising architect of the proposed hospital at Livermore, and especially C. B. Hurley. The latter is a new actor, but his entrance has been foreshadowed.

In the brief period between his return from the army and his appointment at Washington, Forbes was vice-president of the Hurley-Mason Construction Company at Tacoma. Forbes had telegraphed to Hurley:

"Meet me in San Francisco without fail, Friday, Jan. 18, 1924. A brief sojourn in the pure mountain air of Denver, and the expedition breezed on to warm, hospitable California. San Francisco was the scene of the party's first business. The atmosphere surrounding the party began to vary considerably. Mortimer told the Senate committee that he was "not well." Forbes declared that he saw little or no drinking; that he himself touched alcohol only once. That was when, feeling poorly, he took a little hot whiskey as a remedy. There is some documentary evidence concerning this disputed point. As Col. Forbes and his friends were working north from San Diego, J. W. Black telegraphed to Mortimer from Seattle concerning hotel reservations, and added: "Have arranged to meet all the Scotch generals. How many do you want? Regards to all."

Leaving San Francisco, Forbes, Sweet and the Mortimers motored to Stockton, looked over a government rehabilitation project on picturesque Rough and Ready island, and ended up at a house where, according to Mortimer, there was a bar running the length of the room. A bartender, like a host to old years, was mixing drinks of "anything you wanted." Here Mortimer, Forbes and friends spent a whole afternoon. Following Mortimer's testimony on the trivial but interesting point of alcoholic stimulant: there had been some question concerning the disposal of the grape crop on the old Cresta Blanca Vineyard, now growing famous as the Livermore Hospital site. It seemed a pity to lose those vines, and Mortimer, who was a little tipsy, said Forbes to Mortimer, "we'll get all the wine we want there, anyway." Here is Mortimer's testimony in spots and dashes: "On Monday there were a couple of dozen quarts of it (wine) brought up (to the hotel in San Francisco) in two suit cases. The drinking started about an hour after we came to the hotel. The majority of people were drinking Scotch whisky. I was hardly any of the wine was touched. It was taken in the automobiles to Stockton when we went there."

Medal Presented
Mr. Mortimer: Yes, sir.
From Stockton to Los Angeles and San Diego, they proceeded by automobile, doing a little government business here and there. At San Francisco, a committee of the American Legion visited Col. Forbes to protest against the irregularities in the Livermore Hospital transaction. The details of that affair were just beginning to leak out. Col. Forbes gave them only languid attention. By the time he came to testify before the Senate Committee, he had forgotten ten of their protest entirely. At Stockton he was dined by the Board of Trade; Southern California welcomed him with open-handed hospitality.

At San Diego, the party took a Pacific Coast steamer for Seattle. The State of Washington was allured for their coming. Col. Forbes, an adopted son of the Green Northwest, was returning as a power in the government. H. F. Alexander, owner of a steamship line of the Pacific Coast, caught the party by telegraph, invited them to transfer at San Francisco to his steamer the day after, Alexander, Forbes accepted; they traveled north in Mr. Alexander's private suite. A public luncheon celebrated the arrival of the Alexander. All the way West, Col. Forbes had been revealing a power hitherto unsuspected by his friends. He proved a magnificent rough-and-ready orator. "He could stand up before a thousand people and make 'em laugh and cry as he wanted," says Mortimer. At this luncheon, the artistic temperament took possession of Col. Forbes and led him into indiscretions. At the end of a long passage in praise of Mr. Alexander, he drew from his pocket one of the common little Harding medals which were hawked about the street of Washington at the time of the inauguration and pinned it on his bow. "The President before I left Washington asked me to give this to you," he said. Following is Mortimer's testimony: "I asked Forbes—between were all sitting around laughing, and I said, 'Charlie, tell me, did the President ask you to present that?' 'No,' he said, 'I just wanted to make him feel good.' He said, 'He was pretty good to me and put us on his private suite on the boat.' 'It was a very impulsive thing on the spur of the moment. But he is very spontaneous.'"

SECRET CODE USED
In the Northwest, Mr. Mortimer, Thompson and Black's agent for contracts with the government, began getting down to business. Let me dispense with the monotonous phrase "according to Mortimer's testimony." To the end of this installment, the rest is all taken from his examination before the Senate Committee, as confirmed in spots by other witnesses or by letters, telegrams and documents. Forbes has declared that Mortimer's story is untrue in bulk and detail. O. B. Hurley had come, as requested, to San Francisco. In the presence of Mortimer, he and Forbes spoke of the proposed government hospital at American Lake, Washington, one of the projects which had drawn Forbes West. Forbes had said to Hurley: "I can't give you any work, because I still own stock in your company." They held several private conversations. Then Hurley called a conference and said to Mortimer, "Forbes has no stock in the company and we are in a position to figure on the work."

Hurley was awaiting the party at Tacoma; J. M. Black of the Thompson-Black combination, one of Mortimer's employers in business of getting government contracts, was already in the Northwest. From that time forth the business atmosphere thickened. Hurley called Mortimer into his office and imparted to him a simple and useful code for communication with the government. The key was a standard pocket dictionary. To get the code word, Forbes said, "McAdoo." Sweet was Pickles; O'Brien was "Forbes"; Mortimer was "Hyder." The device naming Forbes after a Democratic leader gave the little circle many a good laugh. Mortimer submitted to the Senate committee several telegrams and letters in this code, referring to government contracts.

TERRITORY PARCELED
Forbes declared to the Senate Committee that he had no knowledge of this code; and it is to be noted that none of the letters or telegrams submitted is addressed to him or signed by him. Mortimer testified to the contrary. Mr. Mortimer: I know that he was supposed to have one (copy of the code). I know that everybody else had one, and he knew about it. The Chairman: How do you know he knew about it? Mr. Mortimer: Because he asked me if there was something wrong with one of the messages that he evidently got. I got several code messages at the Wardman Park, and he asked Mortimer the meaning of it. He was a little mixed up, I guess, in trying to go back and find what the words were and decipher them.

The party had enjoyed the hospitality of Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, Spokane, before the backstairs negotiators came down to the heart of the business. While recreating themselves at Hayden Lake, near Spokane, Hurley, Forbes and Mortimer took a little walk and talked things over. The bureau was going to build three hospitals in the region of American Lake, Wash., Livermore and St. Cloud, Minn. San Diego, also, was a possibility. Direct testimony again: Mr. Mortimer: The direct conversation out at Hayden Lake, which was brought up by Mr. Hurley in Forbes's presence and my presence was that by the linking together or the borrowing of money from the Thompson-Black combination to finance any deals that would be necessary. They were to share 33 1/3 per cent without taking any of the work, that in Livermore or American of its fair market value, be taxed to the distributee in the same manner as a dividend paid in money.

Those advocating the stock dividend amendment contended that inasmuch as the taxation of stock dividends as income had been held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court by a vote of 5 to 4 and inasmuch as the membership of the court has been greatly changed since then the questions involved should be submitted again. Those opposing the amendment contended that this procedure would be useless, the decision of the court having been reaffirmed in a subsequent opinion by a vote of 7 to 2.

The Garner plan as approved by the House provides for normal tax rates of 3 per cent on net incomes of $5000 and under, 4 per cent on that portion of income between $5000 and $8000, and 6 per cent on that portion of income above $8000. The normal tax rates in the present law are 4 per cent on the amount of net income below $5000 and 6 per cent above that point. Under the Mellon plan the normal tax rates would have been reduced by one-fourth, making them 3 per cent and 4 per cent. The Frear plan called for cutting the present normal tax rates in two with rates of 3 per cent below $5000 and 4 per cent above that point.

The maximum surtax rate provided under the Garner plan is 44 per cent. This applies on that portion of income above $20,000. Under the Mellon plan the maximum rate of 35 per cent applied on income between $10,000 and $20,000. Under the Frear plan the present maximum rate of 50 per cent on income above $20,000 would be retained.

EXEMPTIONS LARGER
The Garner surtax rate commences at 1 per cent on net income between $12,000 and $14,000, advancing 1 per cent for each additional $2000 until 24 per cent is reached on income between $58,000 and $60,000. The rate then advances 1 per cent for each additional $1000 to 30 per cent on income between $68,000 and $70,000. The rate then is increased by 1 per cent for each additional $2000 until the maximum is reached. Under the Mellon plan the 1 per cent surtax commenced at $10,000 while under the Frear amendment embodying the present law the 1 per cent would start at $6000.

The Garner plan as approved increases personal exemptions from $1000 to $1000 for single persons and from $2000 to $2000 for heads of families. The Mellon plan did not contemplate any change in exemptions.

Under the amendment as adopted does not include that part of the Democratic plan which provides for a reduction of 33 1/3 per cent on earned income between 25 per cent as provided by the Mellon plan.

The earned income section of the bill probably will be reached at which time it is expected that the Mellon plan reduction of 25 per cent will be approved. The insurgen Republicans have favored the 25 per cent cut and will not join with the Democrats on this proposition although some modification in the details of the 25 per cent proposal is a possibility.

LIST OF INSURGENTS
While there was no record roll call today it was possible to ascertain how the different groups lined up. The seven Republican insurgents voting with the Democrats for the Garner amendment included ten from Wisconsin and Representatives Woodruff, Michigan; Davis and Miller, Minnesota; Sinclair, North Dakota; Laguardia, New York; and Mrs. Nolan of California. Representative Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin, was absent but Representative Wefald, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, and Kvale, Independent, Minnesota, voted for the bill.

There is a difference of opinion as to what course may be pursued by President Coolidge if the bill is passed by both houses in its present form. Some Republicans contend that he will veto it, while others do not believe that he will do so.

BITTER ATTACK ON DAUGHERTY

Attorney-General Assailed in Senate

Adamant in Refusal to Quit Under Fire

Graft by Friends Charged by Senator Wheeler

ident has been urged by numerous party leaders to delay no longer, but to remove the Attorney-General at once. But Mr. Coolidge has protested that it was hardly fair to demand resignation of a Cabinet member under fire, to which answer was made that Mr. Daugherty, in the remains of the Cabinet, will be under fire right up to election day and will drag the party down to defeat.

There is still talk that the resignation of Theodore Roosevelt, assistant Secretary of the Navy, will be forced eventually, but at the White House it was stated that the President expects Col. Roosevelt to remain in office.

It was not until late in the afternoon that Senator Wheeler perfected his resolution for the investigation of Mr. Daugherty and called up the measure.

Senator Wheeler in concluding his remarks said: "There have been provided in the resolution that there be named upon the committee the Senator from Iowa (Mr. Brookhart), the Senator from Washington (Mr. Jones), the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. McLean), the Senator from Arizona (Mr. Ashurst), and myself."

PROTEST MADE
 Senator Wheeler moved the immediate consideration of his resolution. Senator Willis obtained the floor but yielded to Senator Lodge, who said, "it seems to me this resolution—and I suppose no one is opposed to any proposal to investigate any department of the government—contains something that is entirely new in the practice of the Senate."

"Never before, during the Democratic or Republican control," Mr. Lodge added, "have I known of a resolution of this kind passed upon the presiding officer of the Senate. Never, even when we have had a Democratic presiding officer, was such a thing suggested as the taking out of his hands the appointment of a committee and that to be done from the floor of the Senate. I think the matter ought to go over."

The chair having expressed the opinion that it was his duty to refer the resolution to the Committee on Audit and Control, Senator Lodge added that it was his purpose.

Senator Willis then began his reply to Senator Wheeler.

CALLING INSULTING
 "I think it is improper," he said, "that the observations made by the Senator from Montana should go unchallenged, even though his resolution has been referred to a committee and is not now before the Senate. I have never known of such an insult being offered as in the proposed resolution. If we have come to the place in the history of the Senate that the presiding officer is not to be trusted so that a member who desires an investigation shall be entirely free and fair shall appoint a committee and name himself as one of that committee, that is the most amazing proposition I have ever heard of."

Senator Wheeler interrupted to inquire if Senator Willis had not "after conferring with the Attorney-General himself, suggested to the President of the Senate who should go on the committee."

"Certainly," Senator Willis replied. "The President of the Senate is not apart from other people and certainly I suggested names to him, quite as he suggested names to me. The Attorney-General who is under investigation should be permitted to say who should be on the committee that is going to investigate him."

"Certainly not," I said nothing of the kind," Senator Willis retorted. "I conferred with the chair and it was my right to do so."

"After consultation with the Attorney-General," suggested Senator Wheeler.

DENOUNCES CHARGES
 "That observation, like many others the Senator has made, is purely gratuitous," replied Senator Willis. "The Senator says everybody knows this and everybody knows that. If one-tenth of the charges that have been made here by the Senator from Montana are true, then instead of there being an investigation, the Attorney-General of the United States ought to be impeached and removed from office and disqualified to hold office and ought to be subjected to criminal prosecution besides."

Senator Wheeler renewed his reminder that Mr. Daugherty had been subjected to impeachment proceedings in the House and that "instead of trying the case against the Attorney-General, the records of the House show that they tried the Representative in Congress who had tenacity to stand by and file those charges."

"I do not propose," he added, "I can help it, to be tried by the Attorney-General in this investigation, but I intend that he shall be tried himself and that he shall be investigated."

Senator Willis replied by saying he had read the record of the House impeachment proceedings, and that Mr. Daugherty had been exonerated by a committee composed of twenty-one Republicans and Democrats, with only one member casting a negative vote.

SENATE IN FIGHT ON BONUS

Inquiry Into Treasury Cost Estimates Ordered After Democratic Member Attacks Plan

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The Senate took a hand today in the bonus controversy. After listening to a fight precipitated by a declaration of Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, that the compensation proposal was a "squalid and odious gratuity," it voted for an inquiry into the charges attributed to Col. Thomas Miller, alien property custodian, that the Treasury "had juggled" its estimates of the cost of a bonus.

The investigation was proposed in a resolution introduced yesterday by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and was adopted today without a record vote and after only a brief explanation by the Mississippi Senator. It puts the investigation in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee.

Before Senator Bruce had time for a breathing spell after his address on the bonus, Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, had called him a champion of the "Jack Dempseys of the war," and a number of others were on their feet to take exception to some of his remarks.

ASSAULTS O'RYAN
 On top of this Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, charged that Maj.-Gen. John F. O'Ryan had tried to use anti-bonus work the organization built during his service as special consultant to the War Department, which investigated the Veterans' Bureau.

After Senator Bruce had expressed the opinion that the bonus was "indefensible in principle," Senator Caraway charged that the Maryland Senator had evidenced no concern "when the Government sought and got a bonus of $1,800,000,000."

Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, interpreting the Maryland Senator's remarks as criticizing the bonus, said he would consider their service in defeating the Mellon plan "equal to that which they rendered on the battlefield."

In retorting Gen. O'Ryan, Senator Robinson also mentioned activities of the former committee counsel, which he said were in support of the Mellon plan. Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, replied that Gen. O'Ryan had completed his services with the committee long before incidents referred to by the Democratic leader.

BRANDED AS NONSENSE
 "There is a lot of nonsense uttered here," said Senator Reed, "about propaganda. Billed down, it simply means that a certain white man is attempting to air his views to the country and they are not in accordance with ours. Gen. O'Ryan, as a soldier with an unusual record, in against the bonus for the same reason that I am, is branded as a traitor to his group, the earning class, will eventually pay for it and for the war loans."

Senator Owen, Democrat, Oklahoma, ended the debate by announcing that he had decided to support the bonus. He said he had been heretofore opposed to it. He gave as his reason that he was convinced the Treasury had overestimated the cost of a compensation measure by $300,000,000.

DENOUNCES THREATS
 (BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Threats from business interests to clamor employees upon failure of a petition Congress for enactment of the Mellon tax bill and for defeat of bonus legislation were denounced today by the White House as "utterly un-American, subversive of the very fundamentals of democracy and calculated to arouse hostilities between employers and employees."

C. H. Bascom Slomp, secretary to President Coolidge, in a letter to the editor of the American Legion Weekly, criticized sharply a purported circular letter sent by the Aeolian Company of New York to its employees. The letter as quoted by the Legion periodical in a recent issue asked employees to request their members of Congress to vote for the Mellon bill and to defeat the bonus. It ended with the declaration that the company would check its pay roll within the next couple of weeks to find out those who had written and those who have not.

SUPPORT HURTFUL
 "The President desires me to say," Mr. Slomp's letter said, "that while he is opposed to granting of the soldier bonus, he is completely in sympathy with the protest which the American Legion Weekly voices against this kind of propaganda to defeat the bonus measure. He feels strongly that such support for his policies is certain to be injurious, rather than helpful. His own attitude about the bonus is well known. He has said with all earnestness that he does not believe in the real interest of the ex-service men themselves."

"But he believes also that efforts to organize an apparent sentiment against the measure, such as are represented by the circular quoted, are un-American, subversive of the very fundamentals of democracy and calculated to arouse hostilities between employers and employees. Convinced, he is, that the bonus ought not to be granted, he feels keenly that his position in this regard will be infinitely more difficult to support, if such methods are to be adopted by those who wish to hold up his hands."

FOR FREE SPEECH
 This question of the bonus is a public question. Every American citizen is entitled to entertain and express his own opinion regarding it. No interest or authority has a right to mislead Congress by perversion, the expression of honest judgment.

"There is no higher duty under such government as ours than to keep pure and undefiled the sources and channels of public sentiment, and the President has claimed for himself, because he believed it his duty, the right to disagree with many members of your organization and many other citizens regarding the bonus. But he insists that every other citizen shall have the same right of absolutely independent judgment that he demands for himself."

TALBOT AT HEAD OF EPISCOPATE

Noted Bishop Succeeds by Death of Garrett

Famed as Most Militant of Leaders in Church

Came Into Note in Far West as Missionary

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, D. D., Bishop of Bethlehem, automatically succeeds to the office of presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, made vacant by the death in Dallas, Tex., yesterday of St. Rev. Alexander C. Garrett.

Making this announcement tonight, the National Council of the Episcopal Church explained that under the constitution of the Church as amended in 1914, Bishop Talbot will serve as ecclesiastical head in America until his successor is elected at the general convention at New Orleans in September, 1925.

Bishop Talbot long has been a leader in his church. Born at Fayette, Mo., Oct. 9, 1848, he was graduated from Dartmouth in 1870 and the General Theological Seminary in 1873. He served until 1887 as rector of St. James Church, Macon, Mo., and as head master at St. James Military Academy of which he was the founder.

At the 1888 general convention at Chicago he was elected the first missionary bishop of the then missionary district of Wyoming and Idaho, and he ranks among the pioneers responsible for the settlement and development of those States. From his experiences there he wrote "My People of the Plains." In 1898 Bishop Talbot was transferred to the diocese of Central Pennsylvania. He was changed to the diocese of Bethlehem, where he has continued to serve.

Bishop Talbot has contributed to ecclesiastical literature, "A Bishop Among His flock," and "A Bishop's Memoirs," which are in general reading "Tim, an Autobiography of a Dog." In addition he has published many magazines, articles, pamphlets and sermons.

The new presiding bishop is a man of broad culture and deep learning and is famed in the church as its sturdiest and most militant leader. He holds the degrees of A. B. and A. M. from Dartmouth, and D. D. and LL. D. from the University of Missouri as well as St. D. from the General Theological Seminary.

BISHOP GARRETT TO BE BURIED FRIDAY

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
 DALLAS (Tex.) Feb. 19.—Funeral services for St. Rev. Alexander C. Garrett, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America, who died here last night, will be conducted Friday, according to tentative plans announced by Dean Robert S. Chalmers of St. Matthew's Cathedral here. The body will lie in state in the chapel at St. Mary's College for women, which the bishop founded, and where his cottage home was located, until Friday, when it will be removed to the cathedral.

BELL-TYPE TROUSERS ARE TABOO

Frills in Clothing for Men Put in Discard by Retail Clothiers

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
 CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Frills in clothing for men are a thing of the past, according to members of the Retail Clothiers' Association, in session here today.

"Heavens, no," was the horrified reply of T. M. Tomlinson, past president of the organization, when asked whether the bell-bottom trousers would continue in vogue. "Conservative models for the spring and summer—English models, made in America, will be the stuff for the men who want to dress properly. Fuller trousers and loose-fitting coats, to make the man look virile and robust, will be the thing."

Frank Carney, president of the association, announced a policy for the future that will affect the dress of almost every male citizen in the United States. He said it would be called the "pride of appearance for men campaign" and that an extensive advertising campaign would be carried on to make the American man the best dressed in the world.

AEOLIAN COMPANY EXPLAINS CIRCULAR

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
 NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—A circular sent to employees of the Aeolian Company asking them to request members of Congress to support the Mellon tax bill and to defeat the bonus, was the cause of the acceptance recently by the board of directors of Mr. Slomp's resignation, it was said by an official of the company tonight.

The circular was sharply criticized by C. Bascom Slomp, secretary to President Coolidge, in a letter to the editor of the American Legion Weekly, made public at Washington today.

CARTER STATES
DIGGING TERMSReply to Ultimatum Says
He's Ready to WorkAsks Apology and Freedom

Take Over Tomb

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)
CAIRO (Egypt), Feb. 19.—Replying to the telegram from the Egyptian Minister of Public Works giving him forty-eight hours in which to resume work in the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, Howard Carter wired the Minister today that he was ready to take up the work again provided he received an apology from the Director of Antiquities and an understanding from the Minister of Public Works that no vexatious interference would occur and no difficulties be placed in the way of further progress of the task. Otherwise he would take proceedings against the government.

COUNTRY AROUSED
LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Egyptian government has made all preparations to take over the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen and complete the research work under the direction of its own staff of trained archaeologists, which is almost entirely British, if Howard Carter should fail to bow to the demand of the government regarding the reopening of the tomb, according to Adnan Ismet Pasha, the newly-appointed Egyptian Minister to London.

Indignation has been aroused in Egypt over Mr. Carter's closing of the tomb on as trivial a pretext as the nonadmission of the wives of the foreign excavators before even the newspaper men had been admitted to see Tut-Ankh-Amen's golden mummy case, the Minister declared today.

Throughout the controversy with Mr. Carter, according to the Minister, the Egyptian government has carried out to the fullest detail the signed agreement which permitted Mr. Carter to admit whom he pleased as well as vesting him with the exclusive rights to the photographs and clearing matter concerning the buried chamber and its contents.

WOULD LET PRESS IN
The Minister described Mr. Carter's action in closing the tomb as high-handed and his attitude toward the Egyptian government as discourteous, expressing the view that it was the British expert's temperamental which was the whole cause of the tomb controversy.

Under the new terms laid down to Mr. Carter, which the Egyptian government will insist be carried out, the press of the world will be given free access to the mortuary chamber as well as the full reports and photographs through the Egyptian press bureau.

Just expressed himself as much concerned as to American opinion regarding the action of his government and is anxious to get the Egyptian case clearly before the people of the United States.

at Boulder CanyonShows How $40,000,000 May be Saved on Projects

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Before the California Society tonight in the big auditorium of the Interior Department, A. C. La Rue, one of the recognized experts of the country on the Colorado River, declared that a flood control dam could be built at Topoc for $10,000,000, or a saving of $40,000,000 over the projects scheduled for Boulder Canyon.

Mr. La Rue, who is a hydraulic engineer in the United States Geological Survey, in his lecture before the society, gave the facts regarding the plan for developing the great resources of the Colorado River Basin.

By means of colored views Mr. La Rue took his audience on a trip through 1600 miles of the canyons of the Green and Colorado Rivers. He has photographed the canyons from Wyoming to Mexico, and during the recent survey of the Grand Canyon he took 3000 feet of moving pictures. His ten years' experience in engineering work under the direction of his own staff of trained archaeologists, which is almost entirely British, if Howard Carter should fail to bow to the demand of the government regarding the reopening of the tomb, according to Adnan Ismet Pasha, the newly-appointed Egyptian Minister to London.

He brought out the fact that the development of the lower river alone would cost more than $1,000,000,000, and urged that in an orderly manner, and that the first great dam should be built in the right place. He said there was an urgent need for flood control to save life and property on the lower river but that it was not necessary to spend $50,000,000 on flood control works. He suggested a flood-control dam near Topoc, Ariz., and gave it as his opinion that a flood-control dam at this site would eliminate the flood menace, and at a cost of $40,000,000, less than the dam proposed at Boulder Canyon.

Congressman Arthur Free is president of the California State Society of Washington, and the programs are this month devoted to some of the things of greatest interest to California's temporarily exiled in the national capital.

In addition to the lecture of Mr. La Rue, the members of the society saw the film "The Romance of California," and Gen. A. A. Fries, formerly of Los Angeles and now the head of the chemical warfare division of the War Department, told of the part that newly-discovered chemicals have had to do with war preparation of the great powers of the world.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Executives of the State organizations of the American Legion, the Federation of Labor, the State Garage and the Native Sons of the Golden West, meeting here today, authorized the issuance of an answer to be forwarded to Congress to statements made by the National Committee on American-Japanese relations, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and Secretary of State Hughes, opposing the provision of the immigration bill, excluding aliens ineligible to citizenship.

HEARING IS ASKED
The representatives of the four organizations also telegraphed to the Senate Immigration Committee, asking for a hearing before that body passes upon the request for the elimination of the ineligible aliens from the bill. Representatives will be sent from here to attend the hearing, the officials stated.

Among them will be State Attorney-General U. S. Webb, former United States Senator James D. Phelan, V. S. McClatchy, former publisher of the Sacramento Bee, and Paul Schaffenberg, secretary of the State Federation of Labor. The telegram to the chairman of the Senate Immigration Committee follows:

"The four California State organizations whose authorized representatives sign this telegram were advised as to facts in connection with admission of undesirable immigration, and deeply concerned for State and nation as to present and prospective results therefrom, respectfully ask for opportunity to be heard by your committee in opposition to proposed elimination from immigration bill of provision excluding aliens ineligible to citizenship."

TELL OF COMING
Representatives intimately familiar with the facts will leave here for Washington where they will advise your committee of the date on which your committee will accord them hearing, not earlier than March 8, State Attorney-General U. S. Webb, former United States Senator James D. Phelan, Paul Schaffenberg, and V. S. McClatchy have agreed to go at time set to make presentation of the facts."

The telegram was signed by Morgan Keaton, department adjutant of the American Legion; William J. Hayes, Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West; George Harrison, Master of the California State Grange, and Schaffenberg.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—Clothes worn by Abraham Lincoln when he was assassinated in Ford's Theater, Washington, by Wilkes Booth, today were sold at public auction here for $6500. They consisted of an old black suit, the collar stained with the life blood of the martyred President, the trousers wrinkled; a badly torn overcoat, and a faded silk stock.

Bidding opened at $500 and rose rapidly to the sale price, when the lot was knocked down to a bidder who gave his name as "Mr. Douglas."

The back and arms of the overcoat had been clipped by souvenir hunters, but the dark silk lining, with the figures of two American eagles and the motto "One Country One Destiny" was intact.

The garments were originally presented by Mrs. Lincoln to Alphonse Donn, a White House doorman, of whom the President had been fond, and who had been his constant companion during his years in Washington.

Mr. Donn had pleaded for them as a memento of his great friend, and a letter from Mrs. Lincoln to Donn regarding the gift was sold with the clothes.

Other historic relics sold at the auction included a pin cushion presented to George Washington at the age of 6, which brought $15. Autographed volumes of Woodrow Wilson's writing brought prices ranging from $27 to $32.

FUNDS NEEDED
FOR HIGHWAYSFinancing Problem Must Soon be DecidedEngineer Issues Statement on Money StatusNew Work Must Stop Unless Source is Provided

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19.—A statement declaring that the time is not far distant when the problem of financing State highway construction in California must be met squarely and that the State Highway Commission and the State Highway Engineer "are not now seeking to have enacted any particular scheme of taxation," was issued here today by the Highway Commission and State Engineer R. M. Morton.

"At the present time," the statement said, "State highway bond funds are nearing exhaustion. Funds available for primary construction amounting to some $11,000,000, are, in most part, Federal aid funds accruing to the State from the Federal government as the State's share of the cost of co-operative projects already financed or under way."

"Maintenance and reconstruction funds are provided by the State's half of the motor vehicle fees and the gasoline tax. The other half goes to the counties. Funds from this source, under present laws, for many years will be required for imperative reconstruction work."

"The State's share of motor vehicle fees and gasoline tax funds cannot be used for new construction, and, when Federal aid funds are exhausted, primary construction will stop unless additional funds from some source are provided."

Continuing, the statement said: "State highway bonds sold to date total $70,000,000. It will be 1925 before the State completes payment of interest and principal on these bonds, and the ultimate total cost to the people will be some $150,000,000. The peak of annual payments on these bonds will be reached within the next two or three years when it will amount to approximately $5,000,000. It will then decrease gradually to 1935."

The preparing of a financial plan for future State highway work is one of the principal duties of the committee appointed recently by Gov. Richardson to study the highway problem as provided for by the last Legislature, the statement said.

WILL OF PIONEER CITIZEN NOT FOUND

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
SANTA ANA, Feb. 19.—As yet no will made out by George W. Ford, pioneer nut grower and horseman of Santa Ana, who died last week, has been found. It was announced today by Superior Judge Z. B. West, who has consented to act as administrator. The property of the estate consists largely of real estate, including twenty acres of rich walnut land in Santa Ana and a ranch near the County Hospital on the State highway. The estate has been estimated variously at between $300,000 and $500,000.

OUR 1924 OLYMPIC TEAM

America's Hurdlers Have Always Been Supreme; Can They Keep It Up?

BY ROYD COMSTOCK

Coach Cyrus Union H. S. National champion 1912, University of Southern California, Coast champion 1913-14, Field coach Yale University 1923, Author A. G. Spalding's new series of Track and Field Books.

The success of our American hurdlers in the past Olympics has been of such an outstanding character that we can scarcely be criticized for predicting that we will again score heavily in this scientific event.

The first victory came in 1896, in connection with the Athens Olympics, at which time, Curtis of America won first place in the high hurdles in 17 1/2 seconds.

Kraenzlein, the former record holder in the low hurdles and intercollegiate champion, won at the second meeting, in the 1900 Paris Olympics in the fast time of 15 2/5 seconds. Kraenzlein also won the 200-meter hurdles in 25 1/5 seconds.

Schule, of America, won the St. Louis high hurdles championship in 1904, in 16 seconds, Harry Hillman, now coach of the Dartmouth team, won the 200-meter hurdles in 24 3/5 seconds after having won the 400-meter race on the flat in 49 1/5 seconds and then to conclude the day's work annexed the 400-meter hurdle event in 53 1/5 seconds. The low hurdles event was discontinued after the St. Louis meet.

Leavitt, of America won the 1904 Athens high hurdle championship in 16 1/5 seconds and in the 1908 London games, Smithson, Shaw and Garrella, the American champions, swept the field in one of the most spectacular wins of the meet. Smithson's time of 15 seconds made a new world's and Olympic record for this event although technically it only applied to the Olympic 110-meter event. Actually the Olympic 110-meter distance slightly exceeds the standard 120-yards distance.

In 1912, at the Stockholm games, Fred Kelly, of the University of Southern California, won the Olympic title and almost equalled Smithson's record of 15 seconds. Kelly's time was 15 1/5 seconds. In this historic race, the Coast champion was closely pressed by Wendell, the Intercollegiate champion and Hawkins, also of America.

Before the last Olympic it was triumphantly forecast that America would stage her customary one-two-three performance in the high hurdles but at the last moment it was found that Earl Thomson, the present holder of the world's 120-yards hurdle event, would have to compete for Canada on account of a naturalization technically.

The average American sports follower will be keenly disappointed if our representatives fail in their attempt to win this event, for during the recent years we have learned to associate the event with such clever performers as Thomson, Simpson, Murray, Smithson,

PITCHERS WORRY ELLISON

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

BOYES SPRINGS (Cal.) Feb. 19.—A problem confronting Manager Bert Ellison of the San Francisco club of the Coast League, in training here, is the pitching staff. Douglas McWeeny and Harry Courtney, two excellent twirlers, are not in Real uniforms this year, and their places must be taken by two southpaws, "Hunky" Schorr and "Lefty" Burger. Schorr formerly was with Seattle, Burger, also formerly with Seattle, was in most of last season, but is reported in good shape.

Ellison has several other reliable twirlers, including Jim Scott, and other stars of only slightly less magnitude, and we naturally take it for granted that we must have a few other champions who can be produced at a moment's notice. It will be noted, however, that our really able hurdlers—those capable of consistently running on record time or close to it—are apt to appear in cycles.

We had such an aggregation in the 1908 games, and another, equally competent, to represent us in the 1912 Olympics. The best combination of all time would have been possible had the 1916 Olympics been held as scheduled, for that year we would have had the services of Simpson and Kelly and Barron, and at that time both of the former hurdlers were still rated above Thomson, for then Thomson lacked the experience and confidence this is so necessary on any obstacle race.

Anderson, of the Illinois A.C., is without doubt the best of the Olympic prospects, for he won the 1922 national senior championship without having to really extend himself, and moreover, ran close to 15 seconds. He ran second to Earl Thomson in the 1923 nationals, and was beaten by such a close margin that the judges found it difficult to pick the winner. Anderson has steadily been winning all of his indoor races, and recently equaled a world's mark in one of the shorter competitions. He is a sprinter of no mean ability, and can cover the low hurdles in championship style, for it will be remembered that he beat Brookings for second place in the 1923 low hurdles championship.

The ideal Olympic contestant should possess this versatility, for it proves that he has the speed to get away and the stamina to go through the entire distance without weakening, and of course the ability to repeat in the various semifinals and finals. Recently Anderson injured himself in attempting to check his speed in an indoor competition but, barring a permanent setback by reason of this unfortunate mishap, there seems to be no good reason why we should not count upon his services and his ultimate success at the games. This prediction is made on the strength of Anderson's ability as a campaigner rather than on his capacity for running a fast race.

Riley, also of the Illinois A.C., seems to have the second call, for in the last nationals he not only ran second to Anderson in the high, but he wound up his afternoon's performance by winning the 440-hurdles championship. This is an exceptional combination, for the latter race in itself will try the stamina of the strongest hurdlers.

Earlier in the year Riley, representing the Kansas State Aggies, won first place in the high hurdles in the national collegiate championships, and in so doing defeated such able performers as Hubbard of Michigan, Leintz of Stanford, Taylor of Grinnell, Johnson of Illinois, the original winner of the disputed conference high hurdle championship, and Brickman of Chicago. Riley's time at this meet was 15 1/5 seconds, which in point of time places him in the first division of hurdlers, and it may be added that this class is not a large one.

Although Riley lacks Anderson's experience, he appears to possess the qualities that have been stressed as being essential for an Olympic competitor. In the first place, he is a fighter, and secondly, he has the ability to run consistently and to compete without wavering in several difficult events. Eliminating the ever-present chance of injury, it seems probable that this Middle-Westerner will share with Anderson the responsibilities of this event.

Avoid "Carbon" Troubles this easy way

DEPOSITS of a carbonaceous residue are made by all motor oils. But they differ vitally in type.

Many oils leave a "carbon" that becomes hard and flinty. It may score cylinders.

It attaches to spark plugs, short circuits the spark and thus causes the motor to "miss."

It accumulates under valves and prevents proper seating. So power is lost.

When it becomes incandescent, it preignites the gas and results in "knocking."

Thus it constantly threatens trouble and because it accumulates rapidly should be removed every 2000 to 4000 miles, which may mean a motor lay-up every two or three months.

But such "carbon" troubles may be eliminated by the use of another kind of motor oil.

Avoid Motor Oils

containing paraffin or asphalt or any other non-lubricating substance. Aristo Motor Oil is refined by the most advanced processes designed to eliminate everything in the crude which has no lubricating value.

For the residue from Aristo Motor Oil is different. It is soft and fluffy, most of it being blown out with the exhaust.

It can not scratch or score cylinders, because it is softer than the metals of which they are made.

Power leaks are prevented by the fact that this soft residue does not lodge under valves. And you'll almost never find a fouled spark plug where Aristo Oil is used.

Thus the residue itself is of a harmless type. Hard "carbon" accumulates four times faster than does this residue.

So a "carbon"-free motor is yours for thousands of extra miles if you merely select more carefully the motor oil you use.

Thousands of motorists now save the cost of "carbon" removal, more completely protect their cars and enjoy the extra months of uninterrupted use which Aristo Motor Oils permit.

You, too, may obtain these results. Simply drain your crank case, fill with Aristo, and use it unmixed with any other kind of oil.

Aristo is sold at all first class garages and service stations.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

En obsequio a nuestros numerosos amigos de habla española, y para beneficio de los lectores americanos de "The Times" que estudian esa lengua, publicamos diariamente esta columna en castellano, con un extracto de las más importantes noticias de última hora.

Buena parte del futuro progreso de Los Angeles, que es la metrópoli de los Estados Unidos que más cerca se halla a territorio latino-americano, habrá de depender de las relaciones que logremos establecer con nuestros hermanos, las repúblicas del sur. Para que lleguen a ser enteramente cordiales, no hay nada tan importante como que nuestros ciudadanos se familiaricen con la lengua castellana. Tan se dan cuenta de esto hecho nuestros habitantes, que hay al presente más de 25,000 personas que estudian español en Los Angeles. A ellas les conviene leer todos los días esta columna, en la que encontrarán español correcto y enteramente moderno.

NOTAS LOCALES

Explosión que Mata a Uno y Lesiona a Dos

Esta tarde, a primera hora, hubo una explosión de gas en el campo petrolero de Signal Hill, de resultados de la cual fue muerto un hombre, y fue herido otro tan gravemente, que tal vez muera. Una enorme caldera, usada para deshidratar la gasolina, se levantó varios pies en el aire por la fuerza de la explosión, y al caer sobre sus rotos apoyos, aplastó y mató a G. W. Richards, perforador de pozos que estaba trabajando debajo del deshidratador.

George McFadden, superintendente de la instalación de la Compañía Petrolera, en cuya fábrica de la Avenida Cherry ocurrió la explosión, fue despedido a varios pies de distancia por la violencia de la misma, y resultó con lesiones en el cráneo y en la cara, que están poniendo en peligro su vida.

William J. Butler, secretario de la Compañía Petrolera, que se hallaba de pie a poca distancia del deshidratador, cuando ocurrió la explosión, fue precipitado a una distancia de veinte pies a un pequeño resumiendo lleno de agua. Sus lesiones son de poca importancia.

Workers Plan to Take Over Textile Mills

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19.—Representatives of textile workers in convention here have unanimously voted to take over the factories twenty days from this date unless their demands are met before then. The union representatives charge that the owners are using the shortage of raw material as an excuse to evade the law requiring that three months' pay be given employees discharged, and that they have not been able to secure redress from the government.

A committee has been appointed to prepare plans for the operation of the mills by laborers. Striking employees in Tampico recently took over the operation of the power and street railway company, British-owned, of that port. Their action set an example for other union organizations.

CANADA TWINE TRADE HIT BY PART CLOSING

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Feb. 19.—Closing the Mexican port of Progresso has reacted all the way into Canada. The Canadian farmer, who believed himself outside the influence of the Mexican revolution will have to pay from 3 to 4 cents a pound more for his bind twine this spring than he gave before. When Progresso, the port of export for Yucatan sisal, was closed by the rebel forces, the scramble for sisal and Manila fiber.

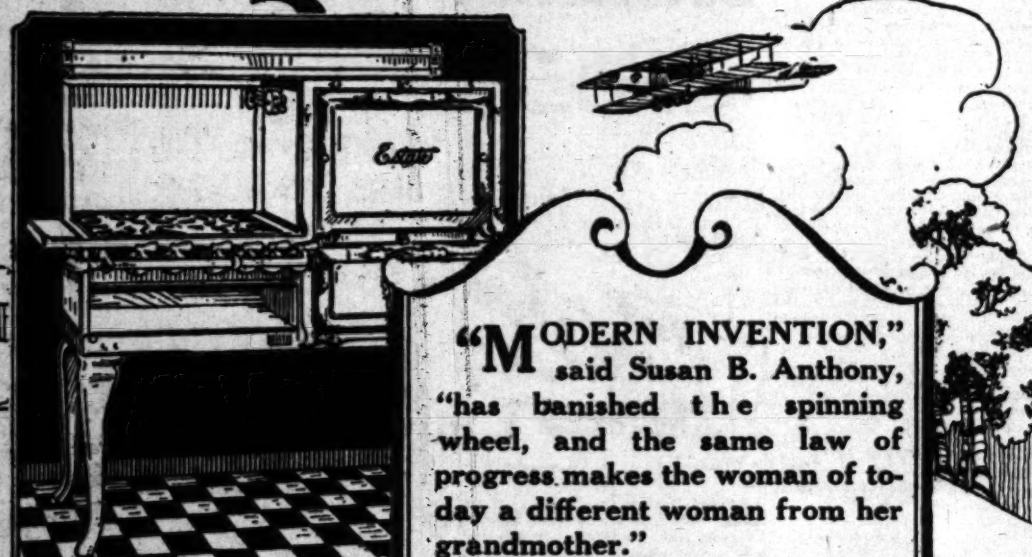

Canadian cordage plants use about 80 per cent Manila fiber in the manufacture of binder twine and rope and the Canadian plants thought they were immune from the sisal worries that would beset American plants, which use almost all sisal.

The Americans, however, rushed into the Manila fiber market for supplies and the price advanced about 4 cents for this commodity, thus forcing the price of all rope and twine up in the United States and Canada.

Progress

"MODERN INVENTION," said Susan B. Anthony, "has banished the spinning wheel, and the same law of progress makes the woman of today a different woman from her grandmother."

We would not return to the days of the covered wagon, nor to the methods associated with it. There has been progress in all lines since then, but relatively more in some than in others.

You too can have a Clear Skin!

WHY worry and fret—wish and hope? Why be jealous of those with clear, soft skin? It is within the reach of all. A rich, ruddy, wholesome complexion is possible. It is not something that is just beyond our reach. Neither is it something that requires years and years of toil to acquire. That clear, soft skin is within the reach of each and every one of us. Not like precious stones available to but a chosen few—clear, soft skin—rich and pure—the sparkle and brightness of youth—is available to each and every one—rich and poor—young and old.

S. S. S. since 1824, has been casting impurities from the system and building red blood cells. Impurities make "that complexion you long for" impossible. Red blood cells send rich blood coursing through your veins. Clear, soft skin is simply the result of a healthy red blood condition. Within the grasp of all—Yes S. S. S. will help you have the very skin you seek.

When the skin is hard and drawn—the cheeks sallow and withered—the figure listless and lifeless—the system is not on edge. Something is wrong. Right that wrong. Possess that clear, soft skin—bring the youthful glow back into the cheeks. S. S. S. will do it.

Miss Ethel Rosa, 423 E. Water St., Painted Post, N. Y., writes: "All that has been said in favor of S. S. S. is true as applied to my case, as it has certainly purified my system and my complexion is now clear."

S. S. S. is made of carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned herbs and barks. It is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

"Just As Pretty" "As Can Be"

That's how our operations are rocking along these days, folks, with nowhere a ripple of gloom.

We have 19 of our own Service Stations in operation today, besides 41 or 42 Independent Stations that are handling Julian Petroleum products exclusively. Another week or so should see at least 30 of our own Stations peddling "DEFIANCE GAS" and "MOTOR OILS."

Oh, yes, business is great, in fact many of our Service Stations are running 1500 to 2000 gallons a day, and three or four hundred gallons a day is considered pretty fair business for the average station.

But that does not mean that business is good enough, and when filling up I don't want you to overlook that "Red, White and Green" service.

After giving us a trial, I feel you will like our stuff, and if it's a little hard to find them today, it won't be long until they are as prominent as lamp posts.

After filling up, watch your motor on a hard pull.

Breakwater and Sea Wall
Will Shield City

Western Texas Sees Help for Its Commerce

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Feb. 17. Harbor specifications for the Corpus Christi deep-water port project will be returned to the City Council and Nueces County Navigation Commission within the next few days, and advertisements for bids on the harbor protective work to be done by the city, county and navigation district will be authorized on receipt of plans by the Corpus Christi port authorities, according to announcement by Mayor Levenshield of Corpus Christi.

The Mayor's announcement followed receipt by Roy Miller, active vice-president of the Corpus Christi Port Development Association of a telegram saying that Gen. Taylor, acting chief of the Board of Army Engineers at Washington, had declared that the local plans would be returned at once, and that authorization for the government's part of the work, the dredging of a channel from Port Aransas to the turning basin, would be authorized as soon as the local work had been contracted for.

City officials of Corpus Christi returned a few days ago from New Orleans, bringing with them a certified check for $2,043,055.50, representing face value and accrued interest on a $2,000,000 bond issue. This money will be used to build a sea wall and breakwater. The issue was sold to a firm of New Orleans bond buyers.

LAST OBSTACLE REMOVED
The receipt of the money for the bond issue removed the last obstacle to actual work. Early summer should see a good start toward the project with both the local and government ends under way, according to Corpus Christi officials.

Part of the protective work, made possible by State aid, was completed in 1920, when a great stone breakwater was placed in Corpus Christi Bay. However, funds ran short. Early in 1921 the Texas Legislature set aside the ad valorem taxes of seven Gulf Coast counties, which would have provided establishment of the harbor, in order that the $2,000,000 bond issue might be funded. A navigation district was formed and more than $1,000,000 in bonds for building the turn basin, docks and railway terminals was voted. Congress appropriated money enough for the start on the dredging of the channel across Corpus Christi Bay, but held up work until the State aid bond issue should have been sold.

TOWN GETS PROTECTION
The breakwater and sea wall construction will afford protection for the harbor and also the town. Although the greater part of Corpus Christi is built upon a bluff averaging forty feet above high-water level, the beach portion of the town lies unprotected from the waves of the disastrous tidal wave of September 14, 1919, when property damage amounting to several millions was inflicted, while nearly 300 persons lost their lives.

The western part of Texas is interested in the building of the harbor, as additional harbor facilities are needed by the State, and at present no adequate harbor facilities exist between Houston and Port Isabel, a distance of more than 200 miles by coast line.

Corpus Christi is the center of one of the most productive agricultural and stock-raising areas in Texas, and is recognized as the commercial center of the cotton area surrounding it. Much of the best staple cotton in the South is grown in that vicinity. Likewise, the town is surrounded by oil and gas fields of importance.

The climatic advantages enjoyed by that section of the State long have made Corpus Christi a year-around resort city, with fishing, boating and bathing as attractions to visitors.

Added importance will be given the harbor, important industries are known to have options on sites for their buildings, to be exercised when building starts. Corpus Christi is served by four railway lines.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—A scene in a marry-in-haste and repent-at-leisure drama was enacted in Yorkville Court when Mrs. Rowland, 23 years of age, of Bridgeport, Ct., appeared as complainant against her husband, whom she married nine days ago after an acquaintance of one day.

The young bride accused Rowland of violating the Sullivan law by carrying a gun, and also of having taken $105 of her money, but the latter charge was dismissed after he returned $75. From the style he affected she believed he was prosperous, she said, but after their marriage she learned he had just worked as a butler and preferred to get along without working while her money lasted.

Rowland was in court dressed in well-cut clothes, patent leather shoes and a fur-collared coat. He looked the part of a nobleman, but in point of lack of education proved entirely too much like one, according to the bride, and she said she never wanted to live with him again.

But she loaned him $5 to buy cigarettes while he awaits trial.

WILL SAIL WITH ALIEN HUSBAND

Philadelphia Bride Refuses to be Separated

Deportation Order Breaks Up Modest Home

Couple to Wait in Rumania for Next Quota

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—Refusing to be separated from her husband, Mrs. Sarah Molder, the American bride of Louis Molder, will return to Rumania if he is deported, as immigration authorities have ordered.

Molder, who is 22 years of age, came to this country late in 1921.

He left his native land for Canada, and after staying there several weeks and finding no work went to Detroit. There he stayed a few days and came to Philadelphia, where he has lived since.

Molder and his bride live at 715

South Alden street, near Fifty-seventh and Christian streets.

"Ignorance of the law" explains his case. He did not break the laws knowingly, and could have lived in this country unmolested had he not applied for citizenship papers last July.

CROSSED FROM CANADA

He was not stopped by immigration authorities when he came across the Canadian line, and did not realize there was anything irregular in his entrance.

Since coming here he has worked as a plasterer. By living frugally and saving his money he was able to send for his mother and two younger brothers. Later he bought the house on Alden street, and last December married Sarah Zusman, a native of this city.

In July, 1923, he applied for his first citizenship papers, and it was then revealed he had come to this country without a passport. He was given two hearings and the reports were sent to Washington.

A week ago word was received from the immigration bureau that he would have to be deported.

Since that time letters and telegrams have been flying between the Canadian and United States authorities in an effort to straighten the tangle, but the government says it can do nothing but have him deported.

"I will not leave him," said

Mrs. Molder. "If he has to return to Rumania I will go with him.

We have been married only two months and we were getting along splendidly. Our house is all furnished and we were so happy here together. Now we will have to give it up and go to Rumania.

"If they would only let us leave the country voluntarily without the disgrace of being deported we would be satisfied.

It doesn't seem right that Louis should be put to all this expense of losing time and money by returning to Rumania only to come back to this country again as soon as the quota is open."

HUSBAND OPTIMISTIC

Molder takes a more optimistic view of the matter.

"Everything will turn out all right, I guess," he said. "I can work at my trade over there for a few months and then, as soon as immigrants from my country are allowed again I will come over. In the meantime we will try to rent

our home and that will decrease the expenses a little. I have already placed my mother and brothers with relatives so they will be well taken care of."

"We are going to Washington to see Senator Pepper and maybe he will be able to do something for us. If he can't, I guess we will have to get out."

MARY HURT IN STREET CAR CRASH

Twenty-five Women and Men Injured in Accident in Chicago

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Twenty-five persons, many of them women, were injured today when a crowded Ashland Chicago-avenue street car crashed into the center of a southbound Ashland-avenue car between North Ashland and West Chicago avenues.

The motorman of the Chicago-avenue car, Stanley Cord, 24 years of age, was so severely injured that he will probably die.

He received a fractured hip, broken collarbone and internal injuries.

Both cars were packed with early-morning workers, even the ales being crowded. The impact of the crash hurled the Ashland-avenue car from the tracks and the roof of the Chicago-avenue car crushed that of the Ashland-avenue car.

The conductor of the Chicago-avenue car, William Cann, was arrested and will be held in custody pending the outcome of the injuries to the passengers.

The crew of the Ashland-avenue car was absolved from blame by attorneys.

How You Can Make Money in "THE PLACE WHERE" YOU'D LIKE TO LIVE

"Raising things to eat!" That is the first answer to the question as to how you can make money at Pomona. More than $35,000,000 worth of things to eat are raised within a 10 mile radius of

Pomona

Poultry a Great Money Maker

Do you know that, among all branches of production in America—including corn, dairy products, wheat, cotton, petroleum, coal and metal—POULTRY PRODUCTS RANK THIRD IN DOLLAR VOLUME?

Nowhere in the country can you make poultry raising more profitable than at Pomona. It has an ideal climate, ample feed supply, cooperative marketing facilities and a market that will take every egg and chick you can raise.

Poultry products in Pomona Valley yield over $750,000 a year. Now add to this the mighty citrus crop—one-third of California's total—the deciduous fruits, hay, grain, dairy products and garden vegetables and you understand why food production in the Pomona district runs into millions of dollars yearly.

Investment opportunities also abound in this favored community. Pomona is ripe for a large building program of business blocks, bungalow courts and homes. Full information respecting Pomona's varied opportunities will be sent you upon receipt of the attached coupon.

Mail it now—unless you can, as we sincerely hope, find it convenient to drive over and visit us in person. It's a run of only 32 miles from Los Angeles and you will be most cordially welcomed.

Free Proof— New Safe Method Whitens Dark Teeth

Results Instantly—Or No Cost.
Blemishes, and others whose teeth are dull, dark or stained, can now say good-bye to discolored teeth. For a new safe method—Bleached Combination—removes stains instantly, and makes soft teeth sparkling white, or if you wish, it will whiten them. Bleached Combination consists of a solid safe liquid, which softens stains and a special kind of paste which only gently removes softened stains, but prevents formation of new ones! No effect on enamel. Fine for children's soft sensitive teeth, which stain easily. Beneficial to gums. Money refunded if not delighted with results of first application. Warning—Do not be deceived by cheap cheap liquid preparations claiming the same results as Bleached Combination. Its use is made on Bleached Combination. (U. S. PAT. 1,547,000) containing both liquid and cream. Small size, at all good druggists, such as: Lums Pharmacy, 601 and 603 1/2 Broadway, and all good chain stores.—Advertisement.

THE REAL Theodore Roosevelt AS TOLD IN THE PRIVATE LETTERS OF Maj. Archie Butt, Aide and Intimate of "T. R."

CAPT. BUTT TO MRS. LEWIS
FORD BUTT

[In yesterday's installment this letter began with President Roosevelt's worries and then related the final scene in the controversy over the grandstand show. Mrs. Roosevelt carried her point in the event of securing the grandstand.]
WASHINGTON, Dec. 7, 1908.
When I got home to lunch I found Straight of the State Department, who had besought me to tell him of the incident at the White House when the Chinese Ambassador addressed the President as "Your Excellency" and the President had scolded poor old Adees in public for permitting the Ambassador to so address him. It seems that, not satisfied with scolding Adees, the President had ripped up the entire State Department and each Secretary was in an awful flunk over it.

His letter was pretty stiff, from what Straight said, and he came in the interest of the Third Assistant Secretary of State, Wilson, who had handled the matter and who felt that the President was hitting him personally and was possibly trying to force him to resign. Nothing was farther from the facts, for the President had not even known Wilson in the matter at all and really held Adees responsible for the mistake, for he had spoken to Adees about the matter in times gone by and seeing Adees at the presentation had presumed that Adees was the author of the reply he read to the Ambassador and also that it was Secretary Adees who had overlooked the remarks of the Ambassador.

REPRIMAND UPSETTING
I could not speak with any authority, but I gave this version to Straight, who then wrote the letter and said that Wilson would see it in the same way, for, after all, poor old Adees had been the one to decide upon the matter as all papers had been submitted to him for his approval. It was unfortunate simply for Adees that both Mr. Root and Mr. Bacon were absent from the city on that day and that he had to be the representative of the State Department. Wilson is very young and very sensitive and takes things very seriously. He handles the Eastern matters of the Department and to have his one big act, which he was so anxious to go smoothly, bring about such a reprimand was almost more than he could stand.

Of course, mistakes should not occur where the President is concerned, and after his orders not to permit foreigners to address him as "Excellency" some one should have seen to it that no such mistake were carried out. The big stick is no joke, he it known, for I have seen it wielded in more cases than in this one case and I hope I will not see it turned in my direction. He told me about the letter and said:

ANGERED BY ADDRESS
"I am willing to have things done lightly when there is nothing at stake, but serious things must be treated seriously, and that response which the State Department prepared for me to read to the Chinese Ambassador was precise and inane, and that made me as angry as did the Ambassador's addressing me as 'Your Excellency.' Every little South African is addressed as 'Excellency' for he thinks it surrounds him with some royal prerogatives of some kind. I want to see the usages of our country pitched on more individual and higher lines and the term 'Mr. President' is all that should be used when the chief Executive of this nation is addressed officially."

Dropping all this and reverting to something more humorous, I must tell you of an incident which the President related in connection with the swimming of the Potomac by himself, the French Ambassador and Gen. Wood, some time ago. I have referred once before to this swim, but it was my impression that they had swum the river with their clothes on. But the President said they did not, that they did not, that they stripped and just as they were going in the water he noticed Mr. Jusserand had put on his hands his black kid gloves. The Ambassador was waist deep when the President saw him.

JUSSERAND'S REPLY
"Heavens, Mr. Ambassador," the President called to him, "what on earth are you wearing your gloves for?"
The President says that he thinks the Ambassador simply forgot to take them off, for he looked at them as if he did not know he had them on, but with a shrug of his shoulders he simply said: "Oh, I feared we might meet some ladies, Mr. President."
Hasta la vista.

ARCHIBALD.
CAPT. BUTT TO MRS. LEWIS
FORD BUTT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8, 1908.
Dear Clara:
I saw Mrs. Taft yesterday and had a very satisfactory interview with her in one way and a very unsatisfactory one in another. She spoke so beautifully of my mother that my heart warmed to her as it had never done before. It would be very difficult for anyone who remembers my mother so beautifully to do anything which would offend me.

Mrs. Taft is very blunt in her manner and to the point at the point at issue without much diplomacy. But she generally knows what she wants and how to carry out her ideas. She seemed to expect me to act for her as if I were already an aide to the husband, and this makes it rather difficult for me, for I do not like to do anything which would seem to reflect on anyone of the Roosevelt regime. She frankly told me that she would not keep Miss Hagner and that she expects to change many of the arrangements in the White House.

TO LET USHERS GO
She had decided definitely to let the ushers out and to put liveried colored men at the entrance of the White House. I told of the difficulties she would encounter and that the move might prove to be too unpopular to carry through, but she seems intent on doing it, and so tomorrow morning I am to have another conference with her on the subject, as he is the one to decide ultimately what shall be done.

She is anxious to keep her expenses down as much as possible and did not hesitate to say so, for she frankly said they had nothing on the outside and that it was necessary for them to retrench when it could be done without affecting the White House prestige. She is an able business woman. She has had to become so, for the President-elect has not the slightest idea of saving money or of its relative value. All this has come direct on her shoulders in the past, and if they are to save anything in the future it will depend upon her. I told her that by the most careful management it was possible to keep their own expenses at $10,000 a year, but I do not believe they will be able to do it. He certainly will not be able to hold down. That is my estimate of them now.

NO SUMMER HOME
They have no summer home as the Roosevelts have, and they will have to take an expensive place for each summer, as they will not be able to visit. She spoke of her proposed visit to Augusta with pleasure and seems to like so much the people they had met from there.

Before I left her I asked her permission to tell Mrs. Roosevelt that I was talking matters over with her and to what extent she asked me if I thought she ought to discuss any of the proposed changes with Mrs. Roosevelt, and I told her most positively not to do so, that Mrs. R. would not make a single suggestion. I am glad of this, for this morning Mrs. Roosevelt informed just what I had said to her and thanked me for the way it was done.

DANISH VESSEL LOST
(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
COPENHAGEN, Feb. 19.—Last night the Danish sailing vessel Teddy took provisions and medicines to Greenland. It should have returned before winter set in, but nothing has been heard of it. Fearing the ship may be in distress, the government has decided to send relief vessels as soon as the water around Greenland is free of ice. It is feared that the Teddy may have been caught in an ice pack and capsized.

Where do hat styles come from?

WHEN a Celebrated Dunlap Hat is designed, it represents the ideas of experts who are constantly combing the style centers of England, the Continent and America—quick to catch the newest flair of fashion, the latest requirement of perfect taste.

Seven dollars—the standard for hat value.

THE Celebrated Dunlap "Varsity"—a light weight soft hat, with the new flat brim. Originally designed for young men, but proving itself extremely popular with older men as well.

THE Celebrated Dunlap "Metropolitan"—with its rounded brim, its smoothness of texture and its youthfulness of line—the hat which exacting business men will approve and claim as theirs.

EXCLUSIVELY Dunlap is the flat, square cut visor, the distinctive feature of a stylish cap. Many are the occasions when a cap is just the thing—and a Celebrated Dunlap is just the cap. Priced at

The Oregon Irrigation Law

is good from the investor's point of view—because it combines practically all the good features of the irrigation laws of other states.

For instance, bonds issued under Oregon laws are a general obligation of the entire irrigation district. The principal and interest payable from direct municipal taxes levied on the irrigable acreage.

The plans for irrigation and their feasibility must be approved by the state engineer; the legality of the proceedings by the attorney general; and the county treasurer is by law the treasurer of the district.

The charges for irrigation are collected in the same manner, at the same time and on the same tax bill as the usual State, County and School taxes.

Many of these points are touched upon, and in some cases, elaborated, in the circulars of several issues that we have published and now offer.

If you will send us your name and address, we will mail you two or three of these circulars.

CLEAN MONEY IS IN DEMAND

Los Angeles Customers Won't Use Soiled Bills

Currency Supersedes Gold on the Pacific Coast

Different in Europe Where Counterfeiters Thrive

Whether it is the fear of currency tainted by politics, petroleum or contagion, the banks are unwilling to say, but they do know that the people of Los Angeles have a most inconvenient habit of insisting upon clean, crisp, new bills of all denominations. In the course of one banking day, it is estimated that the banks of this city pay out over half a billion dollars in new money to their clients.

This demand for clean money is of comparatively recent origin, according to F. N. Bull, chief teller of the Merchants' National Bank, and comes largely from the customers dealing directly with the public, particularly the hotels, clubs and restaurants. They bring as much as $500 for some of the hotels to the bank in the opening hour and exchange the soiled and used currency for the new bills with which to pay out their fastidious patrons. Unless this service is given, the banks report, clients often become impatient in their requests, and threaten to transfer their business to money stores in the West.

Money stores in the West, Mr. Bull asserts, have undergone a complete transformation from the early days when money was synonymous with gold and silver to the present when money is represented by paper. Paper money completely supplanted gold during the war days, and now the style has gone forward another revolution in its insistence upon clean currency. The government is the chief loser in this fact because the money presses are worked to capacity to maintain an adequate supply, and washing machines are required in various centers to clean and disinfect the bills that are worth salvaging.

If gold is in disfavor in the United States, it is a friend in the foreigner going to Europe. Los Angeles banks supply travelers leaving here with about $50,000 every month in gold to take to the continental countries, and most of it stays in Germany. The Germans are eager to get the American gold and hoard it while they continue to barter with each other in hypocritical marks, thus illustrating again the economic law enunciated by Gresham that "bad money drives out good."

What little American paper money circulates in Europe is subject to the whims of counterfeiting, the money experts state. The European counterfeiters are generous in their operations, thinking nothing of raising a $1 Federal reserve note to $100, and a $5 note to $500, while the American counterfeiters in this country are usually satisfied with changing a $1 bill to $10.

Approximately $5,000,000 in bad money is reported to be in circulation in the United States. It consists principally of counterfeit or raised Federal reserve notes, and can be detected only by experts, as a rule. The raised notes are discovered by examining the portraits on the face, each denomination having a portrait of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Jackson, Cleveland, Grant or Franklin.

COTTON OPTIONS RALLY FROM TRADE BUYING

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Cotton futures quotations moved irregularly in active trading today, but a cable caused an early setback of 30 to 40 points but good trade buying caused a recovery and the market closed about 10 to 17 points above the previous close before encountering renewed selling pressure, with a consequent moderate setback.

Irregularity continued in the afternoon but a good undertone was displayed in late trading and final prices were about the best of the day, 12 to 15 points net higher. Spot cotton closed 40 points net higher at 30.80.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Easter Prices

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Bond prices drifted irregularly lower in a dull trading session today. Reactionary tendencies developed in the United States government issues, which apparently were being sold in "switching" operations to high-grade investment mortgages. Public utility bonds gained as a result.

The hesitancy of prices was attributed to the influence of the Japanese loan as well as uncertainty over the outcome of the tax-reduction bill. The more cheerful tone in the stock market, however, was reflected to some extent in the late dealings, where there was partial recovery from earlier quotations.

French government bonds were firm on the receipt of cable advice indicating that a reparations settlement might be made on the basis of 10,000,000 gold mark mortgage on German railroads and other sources of revenue. Interest on French bonds of the portion of the bonds would amount to about $15,000,000 gold marks yearly. Belgian government issues, however, weakened on the exchange rates. New financing continues in decreased volume.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Following are closing quotations on bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange, furnished by Logan & Bryan, 620 South Street:

GOVERNMENT SECURITIES ARE STRONG

Liberty Issues Reach New High Levels; May Soon Break Par

The bond department of the Bank of Italy sponsors the conclusion that a conspicuous feature of the market in government securities during the past month has been their continued strength. With the exception of the first 2½% all Liberty Loan issues have reached levels above the high prices of 1923.

The reasons for this phenomenal rise are simple when one considers the present money market. It is a known fact that as interest rates decline gilt-edge securities advance. The better the security the more marked the advance. A corollary of this fact is that long-term bonds appreciate more than short-term bonds. This is the reason that the second and fourth 4½ per cent Liberty bonds have advanced more than the third 4½ per cent Liberty bond.

There is one issue, however, as yet little known to the public, which has advanced more than the second and fourth issues. It is a long-term United States 4½ per cent government bond, due in 1952. These bonds are quoted at $100.37 per $100. They were quoted at $99.37 per $100. Today they are quoted at $100.37 per $100.

As an indication of the same in money the ratio of total reserves to deposits and net liabilities combined of the Federal reserve banks has increased from approximately 72 per cent to over 80 per cent. Time money has worked down from 5 per cent to 4½ per cent and better for all dates. The renewed discussion of the advisability of reducing the Federal reserve ratio is an indication that the bankers feel that money will be cheaper. This fact may be considered to indicate that they also expect higher prices for Liberty bonds. Many shrewd country bankers and individuals are today purchasing long-term Liberty bonds.

Because of their complete tax exemption the market factors governing fluctuations of the first 2½% are not identical with those affecting the other Liberty Loan issues. The opinion among bankers is that their recent weakness has been occasioned by the growing confidence that a material reduction in the surplus, as suggested by Secretary Mellon, will be approved by Congress. Such a reduction would undoubtedly cause liquidation of large holdings by many individuals, who would be able to turn their funds into other channels with an increase in net income.

The third 4½%, which have repeatedly sold at a loss in recent weeks, cannot be expected to show a very great change in price from the present quotations, because of the shortness of the maturity. Nevertheless, all other things being equal, they will show a slight bullish tendency because of the sinking-fund operations of the Treasury Department. As the third is the first of the Liberties to mature, the government will take advantage of every opportunity to reduce the amount outstanding in order that the refunding may cause a minimum disturbance to the money market.

It has been predicted from many sources that Liberty bond prices will soon be established above par. Indications pointing to such advance are the prospective passage of the Mellon tax proposal, though it may be slightly modified; probability of the bonus bill; heavy buying by banks and institutions, and the all-important factor of declining money rates.

Members of the Los Angeles and San Francisco wire members of the New York Stock Exchange formerly executed orders in New York stock at $12 1/2, $13 1/2, $16 1/2, or $15 1/2, depending on the size of the order. The wire rate charged members of the exchange in eastern cities. Members maintaining offices on the Pacific Coast were authorized to charge the same rate. The charge the higher rate because of the heavy expense of operating private wires. But this rate was cut last month and now the private wire houses became involved in a disagreement. The result has been serious losses in revenue and in some cases operating deficits are reported.

PRISONER IS JAILED BY WOMAN

Chauffeur Turned Over at Central Station at Point of Pistol

Police officers as well as parlor have their etiquettes. Mrs. Rhea Stevens learned yesterday when she called at Central Station to deposit a prisoner.

Mrs. Stevens relates that yesterday afternoon she returned to her apartment at 415 West Twenty-second street to find her newly employed chauffeur going through her belongings; that she got a pistol from a dresser drawer and forced the young man to follow her.

Now, Mrs. Stevens employed the driver chiefly because she had never learned to drive her car, and so she had to force him to drive to the police station. She had concealed the pistol in her muff and often warned him that she would use it if he did not do her bidding. Arriving without mishap at the police station, Mrs. Stevens got out of the car and commanded the driver to follow her with the pistol pointing at him through the muff.

Mrs. Stevens had read about Chief Vollmer and supposed that this was the proper thing to bring to the station, and she was directed up a flight of stairs, which she climbed with the chauffeur in front of her.

"I have a thief here," she announced, but she later declared that she was told by an officer there that that was not the proper place to bring a prisoner.

She managed to conduct her prisoner downstairs, into the street, and through the main entrance into the station. She opened the first door she came to.

"I have a prisoner," she said. "This is the newspaper reporter's room," she was told.

But supplied with a guide, Mrs. Stevens and her prisoner found their way into the detective bureau. There she found an audience and the chauffeur, Paul Woertendyke, was arrested formally and charged with petty larceny.

Mrs. Stevens said she hoped that she never would be compelled again to arrest anybody; that it was a good deal like shopping.

DOCTORS IN DRUG CASE HELD GUILTY

State Board Places One on Probation and Defers Sentence on Other

The State Board of Medical Examiners, at the first of its hearings to be conducted in Los Angeles this year, found two physicians guilty of violations of the State Police Act yesterday.

Dr. Hugh A. McMillan, a member of the medical staff of Seaside Hospital, Long Beach, was placed on trial by the board because of his recent conviction in a Long Beach court on a charge of having narcotics in his possession illegally. At that time he was fined $100.

Yesterday, Dr. McMillan explained that the drugs he neglected to make the required report of. Though found guilty by the board, the ex-aminers deferred sentence until the next meeting, to be held in July.

Dr. Charles F. Meredith, an aged physician of San Gabriel, was placed on probation for one year after he had been found guilty of administering opiates to a drug addict, an offense for which he was recently fined $100 by a justice of the peace. Dr. Meredith explained that he had only administered the drug to alleviate pains sustained by the addict in an accident.

Landis Ordered to Pay Alimony to Suing Wife

Cullen Landis, motion picture actor, was ordered to pay his wife, Mignon Le Brun Landis, $100 a week temporary alimony and to pay a monthly installment of $250 on the house in which she resided, by Judge Shaw of the Superior Court yesterday. The payments will be continued, pending the outcome of his wife's suit for divorce.

The actor appeared before Judge Shaw on an order to show cause why he should not pay temporary alimony. He informed the court that before his wife's suit for divorce he had been earning $1000 a week through his work on the screen. Since she began the divorce action however, he has been earning only $500 a week.

Mrs. Landis has appeared on the screen. They have two children.

Will Begin Construction Today on Tunnel of Pacific Electric to Aid Transportation

Early this morning workmen of the Pacific Electric began construction of another big link in Los Angeles transportation—the Hollywood tunnel.

Work on the foot of open-cut work on the western section. A total of 125,000 cubic yards of earth will be removed.

When completed, the construction of this tunnel will effect the removal of 778 cars and trains per day from the station at Sixth and Main streets and 301 cars per day from the Hill-street terminal. The aggregate cost of the project is estimated at $2,500,000.

DELAY EXPLAINED

That the tunnel would have been started months ago had it not been for the interference of the City Council in the Pershing Square plan, was the assertion of Mr. Pershing.

"This project was endorsed by practically all civic organizations," he said, "including the Chamber of Commerce, the Los Angeles Traffic Commission, the Engineers' and Architects' Association and the Community Development Association. It was favorably voted upon by the people of Los Angeles."

"However, it has been ruled by the City Council that Pershing Square must not be used, which means that the present terminal will be constructed at grade on Hill street for trains serving the Santa Monica Bay district, western district of Los Angeles, San Fernando Valley and the Glendale-Burbank district and cannot be extended when once completed."

CAKLE QUEENS CROWNED

Eggs-traordinary Feats of Riverside Biddies Receive World Applause and Dim Rome's Fame

Two chunks of hen fruit. And Riverside wins international fame. Rome probably never saw an advertisement featuring faithful biddies of that sipping Southland city.

Yet the cackle of a hen, a nose-bag of cracked wheat, a slice of perpetual sunshine—and Riverside knocks Rome, the home of macaroni and aged vino, for a row of hand-made stilettoes.

L. H. Phink (we salute him) of 123 Rubidoux avenue, Riverside, has two samples of his White Leghorns' new artistry. One of the eggs being exhibited by Mr. Phink measures eight inches around the long way and six inches in circumference the other.

Both the hen and eggs are doing nicely.

SQUARE ONE NEXT

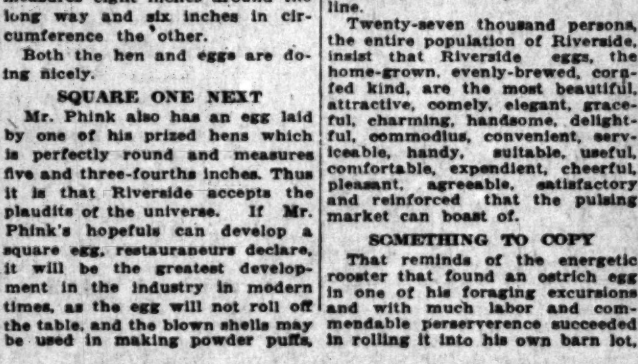

Mr. Phink also has an egg laid by one of his prized hens which is perfectly round and measures five and three-fourths inches. Thus it is that Riverside accepts the plaudits of the universe. If Mr. Phink's hopefuls can develop a square egg, restaurateurs declare, it will be the greatest development in the industry in modern times, as the egg will not roll off the table, and the blown shells may be used in making powder puffs.

Long may the pin-feathers in their finely hooped tails wait the message of faith, hope and charity in all things that pertain grandiloquently to the palatable food line.

Twenty-seven thousand persons, the entire population of Riverside, insist that Riverside eggs, the home-grown, evenly-brewed, corded kind, are the most beautiful, attractive, comely, elegant, graceful, charming, handsome, delightful, commodious, convenient, serviceable, handy, suitable, useful, comfortable, expeditious, cheerful, pleasant, agreeable, satisfactory and reinforced that the pulsing market can boast of.

SOMETHING TO COPY

That reminds of the energetic rooster that found an ostrich egg in one of his foraging excursions and with much labor and commendable perseverance succeeded in rolling it into his own barn lot.

HOW long is youth? Twenty-one years ago, on the Island of Via, the youngsters sat on a rocky ledge overlooking the sea and watched the red ball of the sun sink into the blue Adriatic. Mattie was going off to America in the morning. He would send for Lucetta when there was money enough for two.

Fate was hard on Mattie Kulig. He was a 17-year-old boy when he first came to Seattle. First, his brother's fishing boat was burned on Puget Sound. Mattie escaped and came to Los Angeles. He went into the restaurant business and made good but there was sickness in the Kuligs' family back in Via. All he could spare for several years went home.

Mattie went to war. In the last four years, however, fortune has been good to him. Two months ago he sent for Lucetta Mandakovich, his childhood sweetheart.

She arrived a week ago, and this morning, Mattie and his bride were married at the Los Angeles Harbor home of his sister, twenty-one years from the day they fishing village on the shores of the Adriatic.

CAPTAINS IN INDUSTRY TO BE AT FEAST

Chamber of Commerce Annual Banquet to be Notable Gathering

Manufacturers who last year turned out $1,000,000,000 worth of products from Los Angeles factories will be present at the Ambassador Friday night when the annual formal banquet of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce takes place. It is expected that more than 1000 guests will be present among them captains of finance and industry from all parts of the country.

J. Walter Drake, assistant secretary of the Department of Commerce at Washington, who is to be guest of honor, will be welcomed at San Bernardino Thursday morning by a special committee composed of city and county officers and business men. Mr. Drake will arrive here at noon with a caravan of motor cars, which will show him the foothill scenery on the trip. He will stop at the Biltmore.

A number of special tables have been arranged. A party of twelve will be guests of A. B. Case of the Southern California Telephone Company. The Baker Iron Works will have a table for twenty-four; the Union Stockyards will be host at another table and the Union Rock Company will have sixteen guests. Former executives of the chamber will make up another group. F. S. McGinnis of the Southern Pacific will entertain a number of guests, and so will Fred A. Alles of the Alles Printing Company; W. L. Brent, president of the Realty Board; Hayes Rice of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, officials of the Norton-Lilly Company and the Greer-Robbins Company, which will entertain automobile men.

There will be a special table for charter members of the Chamber of Commerce, organized forty years ago.

DUSE SEEN AS SOUL OF ART

Greatest Tragedienne Transcends Mere Acting and Spurns Shackles in "The Closed Door"

Eleanora Duse is the greatest artist I have ever seen. Her technique is so marvelously finished and complete that it ceases to be technique.

SUSPECT IS IDENTIFIED BY BANKER

Calls James "Buck" O'Neil Chief of Gang in Hold-up at Maywood

Positive identification of James "Buck" O'Neil as the leader of the bandit gang that obtained $4000 in a robbery of the First Bank of Maywood January 9, last, was made yesterday by George W. Meyers, president of the institution, according to Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Wright. O'Neil was taken at the museum of half a dozen photographs early Sunday morning, during the round-up of suspects in the $200,000 Provident Loan Association robbery of the 9th last.

President Meyers identified a photograph of Jimmie Blanton, who is still at large, as that of a second of the robber gang, and the description he gave of a third robber fits Billy O'Connor, who is being sought with Blanton for the Provident Loan job, according to Wright. Ivyl McCarty, arrested early Sunday, has confessed his part in the Provident Loan robbery and named Blanton and O'Connor.

O'Neil, the deputy sheriff who have been investigating the case, was "left out" of the $200,000 robbery by Blanton and O'Connor, and his chagrin over the situation led to an underworld rumbling that brought about his arrest.

For reasons not disclosed, three women arrested in the dragnet were still being held last night, though there appeared no definite evidence to connect them with crime. They are Mrs. Nellie McCarty, wife of Ivyl McCarty; Mrs. Eva Taylor, alias Mrs. James Blanton, and Mrs. E. M. Pryor, consort of O'Neil. The latter was arrested Sunday at the King Edward Hotel.

Dept. Dist. Atty. Vohayda is issued complaints charging Blanton, O'Connor and McCarty with the robbery of Theodore Wells and others at the Provident Loan office, and Blanton and O'Neil with the Maywood Bank robbery.

Cryer and Birnbaum Back Police Chief's Proposal for Bonds to Build New Stations

Emphatic indorsement of Chief of Police Vollmer's recommendations for increasing the efficiency of the police department as contained in his formal report to the City Council, was voiced yesterday in statements issued by Mayor Cryer and Police Commissioner Birnbaum.

Chief Vollmer reiterated his plans, recently made public with particular mention of the need for full reorganization and decentralization of the police force. He urged a bond issue of $1,500,000 with which to finance his program. The program calls for seven new police divisions, new station houses for use of present divisions, and standard equipment for police purposes and public protection. The report calls attention to the great increase in crime resultant upon the tremendous growth of the city.

MAYOR FAVORS BONDS

Following are the statements issued in connection with the chief's report:

Mayor Cryer: Police needs of Los Angeles are greater this year than a year ago. I want to see this bond issue placed on the ballot at the next municipal election. These stations are more needed now than then. They will increase the efficiency of the department in a number of ways. They will provide better housing, better equipment and give the department a wide area of activity. With these branches the department will be much more flexible and better able to handle immediately any emergency of the great growth of the city it has been necessary to increase the facilities of the fire department by more fire houses and more equipment. The same thing applies to the police department, which has only been increased by the departmental stations are one of the biggest needs we now face in order

NEW HIGHWAYS PLAN OUTLINED

Two Meetings Vote to Push Network of Roads

Beverly Boulevard Will be Extended to Sea

Hollywood Artery to Join System in Valley

An active campaign to make Beverly Boulevard a through highway from Whittier to the sea and to link Hollywood Boulevard with the highways of the San Fernando Valley by a system of lateral roads in the hills was launched at meetings, respectively, of the Hollywood Foothills Improvement Association and the Hollywood Hills Association last night. The former met in a banquet at the Biltmore and the latter at the Women's Club in Hollywood.

Although work had been done previously on the Beverly Boulevard matter and the right of way from Beverly Hills to the sea guaranteed last night's meeting at the Biltmore, attended by more than 100 city and county officials, representatives of civic organizations and prominent business men, marked the definite start of the campaign project.

Following presentation of the necessity for the extension and development of the boulevard by a score of speakers, a ways and means committee was appointed to supervise the campaign and the 300 present were constituted a committee of the city and county with organizations on the project.

FIVE SECTIONS

The ways and means committee is as follows: Dr. Edwin J. Jans, chairman; E. A. Dickson, Dr. C. H. Scott, Stanley S. Anderson, George B. Karr, E. P. Clarke and W. H. Whitmer. H. H. Merrick, president of the Hollywood Foothills Improvement Association, who served as chairman last night, was named as the chairman of the larger committee.

The proposed plan for the extension of Beverly Boulevard calls for five sections over a distance of six miles. It is to start at the Coast Highway at Santa Monica, thence west to Beverly Hills. From West Beverly Hills it will go to Hollywood, thence to the Whittier Country Club, thence to Glendale Boulevard, thence to the Los Angeles River. Thence from the Los Angeles River to Whittier will be by way of Whittier Boulevard.

ADVANTAGES TOLD

It is planned to make practically the entire stretch, 160-foot boulevard to the viaduct over the Los Angeles River the route will be by way of the Second-street tunnel, it was stated.

Advantages of the proposed boulevard were outlined by speakers as follows:

It will be a strategic highway in time of war.

It will relieve the congested traffic.

It will connect interior towns of California with the coastal plain.

It will join Glendale and the San Fernando Valley with the new route to Santa Monica.

It will be the shortest route from Santa Barbara to San Diego via Los Angeles.

It will offer the best approach to the Mulholland drive through the Santa Monica Mountains.

It will be an ideal pleasure boulevard for the entire Southland.

Speakers who addressed the meeting at the Biltmore included Mr. Merrick, chairman of the committee, and Charles Cheney of the City Planning Commission; President Workman of the City Council and Councilman of the Security Trust and Savings Bank; E. P. Clark, Dr. (Continued on Page 2, Column 4)

INDORSE VOLLMER'S PLANS

Cryer and Birnbaum Back Police Chief's Proposal for Bonds to Build New Stations

Emphatic indorsement of Chief of Police Vollmer's recommendations for increasing the efficiency of the police department as contained in his formal report to the City Council, was voiced yesterday in statements issued by Mayor Cryer and Police Commissioner Birnbaum.

Chief Vollmer reiterated his plans, recently made public with particular mention of the need for full reorganization and decentralization of the police force. He urged a bond issue of $1,500,000 with which to finance his program. The program calls for seven new police divisions, new station houses for use of present divisions, and standard equipment for police purposes and public protection. The report calls attention to the great increase in crime resultant upon the tremendous growth of the city.

MAYOR FAVORS BONDS

Following are the statements issued in connection with the chief's report:

Mayor Cryer: Police needs of Los Angeles are greater this year than a year ago. I want to see this bond issue placed on the ballot at the next municipal election. These stations are more needed now than then. They will increase the efficiency of the department in a number of ways. They will provide better housing, better equipment and give the department a wide area of activity. With these branches the department will be much more flexible and better able to handle immediately any emergency of the great growth of the city it has been necessary to increase the facilities of the fire department by more fire houses and more equipment. The same thing applies to the police department, which has only been increased by the departmental stations are one of the biggest needs we now face in order

The Cartridge Plait!

The straight slim tubular coat of spring has several signs by which one may make certain of its style assurance. And one of these (not at all the least important) is cartridge plaiting.

A close, stiff, upstanding plaiting of the fabric that gives the effect of a fur banding. A smart, crisp, upstanding plaiting that makes shoulders look narrower, ankles more slender.

In straightline and cape back types. Coats in black, brickdust, navy and gray—at $95!

The Wrap Section—BULLOCK'S—Third Floor

New Swiss Dress Voile, $1.50

Voile with personality! Hand-drawn threads effect checks and plaids. In lovely spring and summer colors.

Sheer, crisp, two-ply yarn voile for fashioning smart undergarments, dainty frocks for the little tot, and afternoon frocks for misses and women. 38 and 40 inches wide. $1.50 a yard.

Silk and Lisle Crepe, 36 inches wide, $2.75

A crepe that has the appearance of being all silk. A splendid heavy weight for one piece dress and pleated sports skirts. In solid colors. $2.75 a yard.

Crepe Broche, 36 inches wide, $1.75 yard

A new weave with a jacquard design woven of fibre. The background is a heavy crepe weave. Many beautiful colors. $1.75 a yard.

Section of Fine Dress Cottons, Bullock's Second Floor

New, Smart Footwear is Specially Priced, $7.85

The style is exceptionally clever and has met with approval by fashion criterions since its appearance at Bullock's a few days ago. But, one slight calculation is wrong. The strap was made a trifle loose, but the moving of a button will alter it to fit the foot comfortably and perfectly.

—$7.85 a pair is much lower than the price for which they were originally purchased to sell. Note: In addition to this line of shoes, 400 pairs of fine shoes will be taken from Bullock's regular stocks and reduced to $7.85 a pair.

Ideal for families of two

By MARY KIRKWOOD

IN an apartment one couldn't ask for anything better than a LUNDIN-LEAF library-diner. During the day, it is a beautiful library table; at night, it opens for dinner so easily. Just spread the top and swing the hidden leaves into place.

For two, one leaf is enough. When company comes, there is lots of room for six—even eight.

Leaves do not stick or refuse to join on the LUNDIN-LEAF. They are hand fitted and matched; protected against warping because they're always in the dining room. Your dining table should be a LUNDIN-LEAF. Finished in mahogany and walnut with Queen Anne, Italian, Cromwellian and Windsor period designs.

Look for the LUNDIN-LEAF name in every table. It's a guarantee of honest workmanship and mechanical perfection. If the furniture stores in your town do not yet display a full showing of LUNDIN-LEAF tables and dining suites, send for our booklet of beautiful designs.

The very day you start to use Calumet Baking Powder your baking expenses reduce. The price of Calumet is not the only reason for its economy—it's the great leavening strength it possesses—the unfailing results that are always experienced when it is used, that's what counts—that's what makes it the economy leavener.

Never use heaping spoonfuls when you bake with Calumet—it isn't necessary because one spoonful of Calumet does the work of two of many other brands.

Among the well known Angelenos who returned recently from an extended trip around the world are Mrs. Frank W. King and her talented daughter, Miss Gertrude King, formerly of Westlake avenue and West Ninth street. They made the tour by way of Honolulu and the Philippines, stopping for several months' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peter White (Gertrude King). Mr. and Mrs. White and their small son Peter King White make their home in Manila where Mr. White is in business, the small son, who is the delight of his grandmother and aunt being born there months ago in France, while Mr. White was visiting on the continent with her mother and sister. Mrs. King, who has always been active in club work, was president of the Ebel in 1924 and 1925 and is equally well known in social circles. Miss King has passed greater part of her time for several years in New York city. Since their return home Mrs. King and Miss King have been domiciled at The Weymouth in Alvarado street.

Informal Tea
Miss Neeta Marquis entertained with a small informal tea at the Biltmore in honor of Mrs. Orison Sweet Marden of New York who with Dr. Marden and their two daughters is enjoying the winter holidays in Hollywood. Spring flowers and foliage graced the tea table, those included being Mrs. W. B. Scarborough, Mrs. Grantland Seaton Long, Mrs. Mary Mandenhall Perkins and Mrs. Georgina S. Townsend. This is the first of a series of affairs which Miss Marquis is planning in honor of the visitors before they return East.

Afternoon Affair
Miss Marguerite Brunswig, who with her mother Mrs. Lucier Napoleon Brunswig of West Adams street has been abroad for several years, was the honor guest at a delightfully arranged tea with which Mrs. Ernest Moody Best entertained at her home in Second avenue. This is one of a series of informal affairs with which Mrs. Best is entertaining this spring.

Canadian Visitors
Mr. and Mrs. R. Belanger of St. Hyacinthe, Canada, are visiting for the first time in Los Angeles and are guests at the home of their uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Normandin in South Deane street. Mr. Belanger, who is presently identified with the business world in Canada, is enthusiastic over Los Angeles and is considering the purchase of a winter home here.

Back From Trip
Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weeks Banks (Martha Woolwine) of Van Ness avenue who have been enjoying a delightful cruise through the Hawaiian Islands with the younger Dohenys in their palatial yacht are expected home Saturday.

For Debutante
In honor of Miss Bernardine Murphy, the charming young debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Murphy of West Adams street, Mrs. Cameron Erskin Thon entertained with a delightfully planned luncheon party at her home "Wildair," the house being transformed into a garden of spring flowers. A peach tree adorned the center of the luncheon table, the delicate pink blossoms and foliage adding an artistic touch to the effect. Covers were laid for sixteen, the guests being debutantes of the season. Miss Murphy and her aunt, Miss Sue Sinnott, are planning an indefinite trip abroad in the near future leaving Los Angeles soon after The Bachelors' Ball.

Luncheon Party
Mrs. Charles W. Upton of 344 Pasadena avenue, South Pasadena, entertained Tuesday afternoon with a luncheon at the Biltmore in honor of Mrs. A. R. Specht of Chicago who with Mr. Specht has been making a tour of Southern California. Spring flowers were used on the luncheon table and eight guests were bidden.

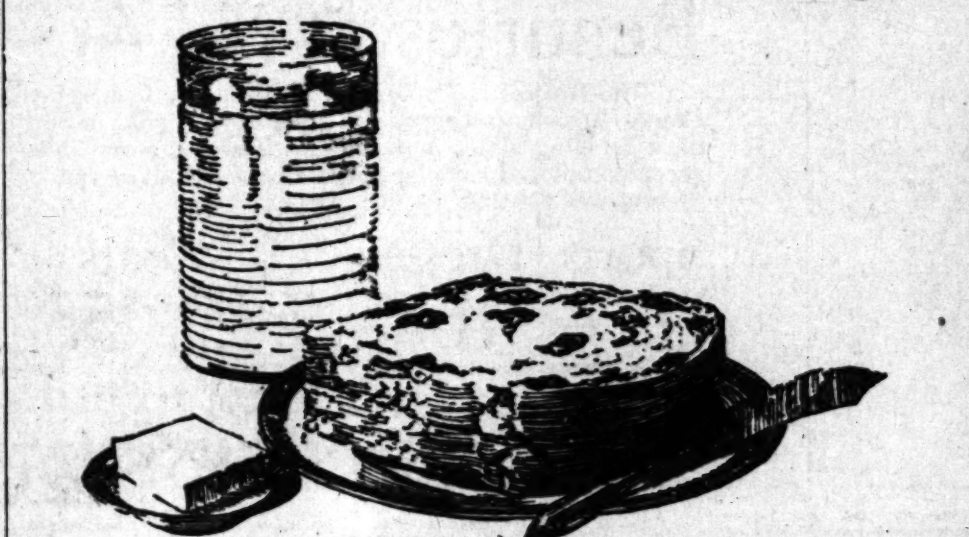

Engagement Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Max Leonhardt of Covina formally announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Louise Leonhardt to Wesley Glick Leighton. Miss Leonhardt was graduated from Pomona College. No date has been set as yet for the wedding.

Morning Musicals
One of the most important events in the musical and social world is the morning musicals which will be given at the Biltmore this morning by the brilliant violinist, Miss Beale Chapin. Miss Chapin's musicals, which are invitational affairs, resemble more closely than any other events in this community the famous salons of the great notables of France during the time of Louis XIV. The programs are given in costume and among the patronesses are many well-known leaders in the social and musical world.

Bridge-Luncheon
Mrs. Roger Knorpe of Gower street will entertain with a luncheon, bridge and mah jong party this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Albert Jones.

At Penang
Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Krug, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Irwin and Dr. and Mrs. Horace Allen, well-known Angelenos who left January 1 on a six months' tour around the world, have arrived at Penang, and are enjoying the trip immensely.

LEAP-YEAR MEETING
A novelty in the way of meetings has been arranged by the Los Angeles and Southern California Retail Druggists' Association for to-morrow evening at the Elite Cafe, 221 South Broadway. It will be leap-year meeting and no business picture actors and actresses will furnish the entertainment.

That "Something extra good" for Wednesday's dinner

Wednesday's mid-week—and dinner seems to call for "something extra good"—a bit of a treat.

What could be better than Raisin Bread—filled and flavored with the rich, fruity goodness of Sun-Maid Raisins! I bake it special for Wednesday—the kind you like, the kind your family all enjoys.

Other special bakings

For you, today, I have also prepared special bakings of rolls, cakes, coffee cakes, muffins, "snails", cookies, Raisin Pie and other tempting Sun-Maid Raisin Foods.

They come to you fresh and fragrant from my ovens—as healthful as they are delicious.

By bakers everywhere

The finest Sun-Maid Raisin Bread and other Raisin Foods are prepared "special for Wednesday" by bakers every week—everywhere.

You can get them at bakeries, grocery stores, delicatessens throughout the city.

Serve them today for dinner, for the children's and your own luncheon. And—try Raisin Toast for Thursday's breakfast!

Many kinds of Raisin Rolls—fresh and tempting!

California table-grapes and California sunshine in a pie!

Raisin bread special on Wednesdays

William Ehrke of Kansas City, who is visiting on the Coast for the season. Spring flowers will be used in the decorations and thirty guests have been bidden. Many attractive affairs have been given in honor of the visitor, among them being the bridge-luncheon with which Mrs. John Knorpe entertained at the Los Angeles Country Club and yesterday afternoon Mrs. M. C. Albertson entertained with a luncheon at the Elite.

Musique Party
One of the events of the week which will be of much interest to the younger set is the colonial masque party to be given Friday evening by Mrs. William Lee Woollett in honor of the students of the high school department of the Hollywood School for Girls.

Bridge-Mah Jong
The Hollywood division of the committee for the $200 luncheon to be given at the Biltmore Monday afternoon, March 3, is contributing its share to the fund for the women's buildings at the University of California by giving a bridge and mah jong party in the Plaza Ballroom at the Ambassador Tuesday afternoon, the 28th inst.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS
Stand the wooden chairs enough times a week to keep them from warping. Wipe the wood with a damp cloth.

Apple Pie
If apples are not in season, use canned apples. They will be just as good.

A Big Tub and a Little Soap
One mother has a very interesting story to tell of the bath. She says that she has never had a baby put into a tub before.

Capt. Hobson Takes His Choice for Press Club Vaudeville

LIVELY TIME IS PROMISED BY PROGRAM

Prominent Angelenos Will be Subject of Jests at Club Vaudeville

The schools and colleges are doing. Religious drama or drama in the churches will be considered Thursday morning, with Mrs. A. Starr Best of Chicago in charge of the session. There will be a Little Theater luncheon and the afternoon will be given over to nonprofessional theater work in the country. This will be followed by a garden party.

On Friday the children's theater will be the subject of the session, and there will be talks by Ellen Galpin, Sybil Eliza Jones and others. The afternoon session will deal with stagecraft, with Irving Pichel of Berkeley in charge.

Marionettes will be discussed on Friday by Perry Dole of San Francisco, while in the afternoon the silent drama will be taken up, with Hollywood furnishing the speakers. Sunday afternoon the delegates will attend the Mission Play, and the last day will be in charge of the Los Angeles Center, with Mrs. Walter H. Gillette as president.

NOAKS HEARING CONTINUED The preliminary hearing of Lottie Noaks, charged with embezzlement, was continued yesterday by Justice Ambrose until this morning at the request of Dep. Dist. Atty. Lucas. The charge grew out of the activities of R. H. L. Noaks, the accused woman's husband, who is asserted to have defrauded Hilla Vacha, a high caste Hindu, out of $5000 in an oil deal.

Young, with a cast of Lois Chambers, Eliza Matthews, Howard Verbeck and Charles Meredith. The fourth number is Frieda Peycke, interpretative composer, and the fifth Floria Mayne and company, in a musical interlude. Virginia Pearson, monologist, appears sixth, and the seventh number is "Bitter Bread," a one-act play by Florence Pierce Reed, who appears in the cast with Paul Moore and Ida Lewis.

Blanche Harriman Verbeck is named as general manager of the production, with William J. Dodd as assistant, and there is an imposing list of names on the staff, most of whom, the program declares, are to do no work. Many motion-picture stars and directors appear as ushers, together with business men of prominence.

The first number is a Puritanic ballet entitled "A Pastoral," written by E. Magnus Ingletton of the Uplifters; the scene is the Garden of Love, and Irvine Rice, Mary Emma Moultrie, May Leyengood, Marcoritta Hellman and Frank B. Geiger appear. The second is an act by Cosmo Morgan, Jr., who describes as the pulchritudinous prestidigitator.

The third is "The Gift Cup," a one-act play by Eva Hamilton

Braces for the Washboard My laundress told me of a very helpful washing wrinkle. She has two angle irons screwed on the back of her washboard, which act as braces to hold the board on the top of the tub and prevent its slipping down into the suds, frequently causing scraped knuckles besides the splash.

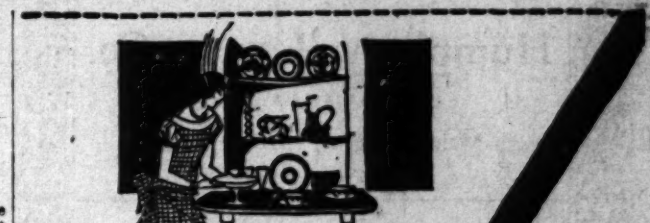

Glove Stretchers Clotheshops in the fingers of a very wet woolen glove will prevent their shrinking in the drying process. If you only use part of a can of pimentoes, place the remainder in a jelly tumbler and cover with melted paraffin. They will keep then indefinitely.

GLANDS

Over three hundred people have visited this office the past three weeks. Many are now under treatment. Nearly every one of them say they are much improved. Some of them almost beyond belief. Gland treatment is used in most all diseases. We use only gland substance made from the goat and ram. Beware of the cheap substance on the market made from swine and bovine. Our prices are reasonable. We do not charge three to five hundred dollars as is being done all over the city. To the out-of-town people who have been visiting this office, we wish to state that you can be treated the same day you call and return to your home immediately. No, we do not operate on you or send you to the hospital. No pain or delay from business. We are the first and original advertising office in the city. Be sure you get the genuine. Call for free consultation. Personal attention by the physician in charge.

Landlady Identifies Man as Assailant

Women Believed Decoys for Bandit Gang

A man and two women believed to be members of a bandit gang using women to decoy their victims were arrested yesterday by police and lodged in the City Jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon. They are charged by police to be the three who shot Walter Troeschell, owner of a cafe at Twenty-third street and Grand avenue in the big Sunday night after an unsuccessful attempt to rob him.

The arrest of the three suspects, who gave their names as Howard Davis, Mrs. Marian Ellis and Mrs. June Anderson, followed information given by Detective Lieutenant McDonald and Nash by Mrs. M. Dumler, landlady of the rooming-house in which Troeschell and his wife lived on the Sunday night the attempted robbery and shooting occurred. She has definitely identified Davis as the man who shot Troeschell.

Police declared that the three suspects have been implicated in numerous hold-ups here. In the past few months in which women have always been used to decoy the victims. They stated further that descriptions of the women received from the various victims tally almost exactly with those of Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Ellis. Efforts are now under way to have the women identified.

Stanley Grabarkey and S. E. Vancil, both living in the rooming-house operated by Mrs. Dumler at 2229 South Grand avenue, were also taken into custody by the officers. They are being held as material witnesses in the case.

The two women were arrested at their home at 1761 1/2 West Jefferson street. Detectives McDonald and Nash, who made the arrest, stated that a liquor party was in progress at the house when they arrived and that the two women and Davis were intoxicated. They stated that the customary procedure of the bandit gang of which the three are said to be members was to send the women out in an automobile.

They would meet some man and invite him into their car. Then they would drive to some spot arranged beforehand and there leave the car for a few minutes. Their male accomplices would then appear and rob the man, the detectives said.

WOMAN IN ROOM

Mrs. Dumler told police that she returned home late Sunday night and found Davis and Mrs. Ellis sitting in their car in front of her home. They appeared to be intoxicated. Later she said she went to Grabarkey's room and there found him and Mrs. Anderson. They were engaged in an earnest conversation, she said. Mrs. Anderson demanding that Grabarkey accompany her and he refusing. Finally, she stated, she ordered Mrs. Anderson from the room. A short time later Troeschell and his wife drove up in their car with the proceeds of the day at the cafe.

She said she saw Davis halt the car and open fire. Davis also was identified by C. F. Randall as the man he had seen loitering in an alley in back of the Troeschell cafe several hours before the shooting.

Delegates to Republican State Convention Will Entrain Saturday

Arrangements are being completed at the Coolidge Republican Club headquarters, Angelus Hotel, for a special train to take delegates to the State Republican convention to be conducted in San Francisco on the 25th inst. Tentative plans provide that the train will leave Los Angeles shortly after the departure of the Southern Pacific Lark next Saturday.

In addition to delegates to the convention virtually all of the officers of Southern California Coolidge clubs, national committee candidates from the south and many others interested in the success of the President in the May 6 primary will be included in the party. It was announced yesterday.

The San Francisco meeting will be called at the St. Francis Hotel, where Republicans from the entire State will gather. During the past few days preparations to attend the convention have been in progress in all parts of California, but it is reported that Los Angeles is the first city to make plans for a special train. Meetings have been held by a number of organizations working for President Coolidge throughout the State for the purpose of selecting candidates for the national committee. Within the next few days it is expected that all candidates from the several Congress districts to represent the President at Cleveland on June 10 will be named. It was predicted yesterday by observers at the local Coolidge headquarters that the San Francisco convention will give the President an undivided delegation from California.

Rippey, who was once reputed to be the youngest colonel in the Army, was an officer in the Ninetieth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, which went out at Lincoln's first call.

Mrs. Rippey is survived by three sons, Threshen Ames Rippey and Atwood Eugene Rippey of Los Angeles and Charles Hendee Rippey of Elsinore, and a daughter, Mrs. R. W. Vaughn of Santa Barbara.

POWER VALUATION

ACTION OF COMMISSION IS POSTPONED PENDING
REFERENDUM

Pending a referendum to be held May 6, the State Railroad Commission has continued until May 16 the hearing which was to have been held here yesterday before Commissioner Brundage on the application of the city of Los Angeles et al. for an order fixing the just compensation to be paid for the electric distributing system of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company which the city power bureau seeks to acquire.

The property is valued at more than $17,000,000. If the power bureau is beaten at the polls there will be no further need for a hearing. If the bureau wins, the commission before proceeding further, will first determine whether it has jurisdiction, it was stated.

Long Chase of Arson Suspect
Ends in Arrest

Julian Arnshein, wanted here for jumping bail on an arson charge, was arrested in San Francisco yesterday after a search of several months and into many States. The hunt started on July 10, 1933, and was kept up continuously under the direction of Chief Deputy Sheriff Wright. The suspect was arrested while under the name of Ernest Rose by Chief of Police O'Brien of the Bay City on information given by Chief of Police J. W. Smith of Nashville, Tenn.

Arnshein was originally arrested in Los Angeles on the arson charge. A number of friends put up $5000 bail. When he fled it is said they offered a reward of $500 for his recapture. He was said to have been traced from Los Angeles to Birmingham and Florence, Ala., thence to Lewiston, Idaho; Brentwood, Tenn.; Nashville and from there to San Francisco.

At the time Arnshein's bail was forfeited authorities here said attorneys for Arnshein asserted they had information that he had been drowned in Mexico.

MENTAL DISEASES TO BE TOPIC OF TALKS

The course of twelve lectures starting the 20th inst. at 7:30 p.m. at the Serrano Junior High School will cover the various types of mental diseases, their causes and prevention, so far as known, and the mental hygiene aspects generally as applied to everyday life. The lectures will be given, so far as possible, in popular terms. The lectures will be concluded with addresses by specialists in specific fields, such as a psychologist working in the educational system, a psychiatrist in criminology, a social worker in the field of mental disorders.

California is Vast See it all

Dear Friend

California is vast. Almost a thousand miles north and south, and two hundred and fifty miles east and west, it spreads its inviting area before you. You have seen at least a small part of this area—but how much? You have no doubt been so delighted with what you have seen that you would be glad to see more.

We urge you to do that before you select your home. Tastes vary as people vary. You would no doubt find ANY section of California to your liking. Southern California's indefinable charm might grow upon you—you might easily become native to the balmy southland and climate, as thousands of happy people have.

But perhaps your ideals are not yet touched. Perhaps another type of California community would appeal to you. See them all! Visit Santa Barbara. Turn in to the Great Central Valley, and out again to the sea. If you can take the time, see Yosemite, directly opposite San Francisco. See the missions marked on the map, and historic Monterey Peninsula with its famous scenic drives. Visit the Big Tree forests, the Santa Clara Valley in a springtime billow of blooms, and then the Peninsula between San Francisco Bay and the ocean.

The Great Central Valley—400 verdant miles long—is California's greatest agricultural area. It furnishes two-thirds of the State's agricultural wealth. It is dotted with orchards, ranches, farms, and home communities, intent on happiness, content, and success. Along its western side are the many garden valleys of the coast range, each a little Eden of happy homes and home sites. San Francisco is the metropolis of the Great Valley and these little sister valleys near the sea, and throughout this vast central region moderate prices for real estate prevail.

On the Peninsula you will come to some of the suburban cities of San Francisco. They are cleanly, garden cities of lovely homes—communities of mansions and of cottages, of bungalows and Spanish type dwellings. Flowers are profuse, and you will see great rows of towering eucalyptus trees lending unusual interest to highway drives and daily suburban trips.

In San Francisco you will feel at home—for San Francisco is hospitable, and has more hotels and apartments than any city of its size in the world. Chinatown will fascinate you—the street flower stands and extensive parks will charm you.

But description is futile. You may reach this country on El Camino Real—a paved highway coasting mountains and seaside, directly to us, or by rail—a clean quick trip. Spend a few days seeing both the old and romantic—the new and progressive San Francisco. Call on Californians Inc. when you reach here—a non-profit organization of institutions and individuals interested in the sound development of the State. We will aid you in planning sightseeing trips, in seeing suburbs, in choosing temporary quarters, or in selecting your ideal home. Authoritative information on California subjects will be at your disposal. The service is gratis. Mail the coupon today, and plan a trip to Central California.

Oratorical Competition on Constitution a Need

Americanism Gospel Spread Throughout Schools

The nation-wide scope and functioning of the National Oratorical Contest, now under way, which is an extension of the debating contest on the Constitution instituted by the Los Angeles Times for Southern California, is described in the following article, written by Robert M. Field for World's Work, under the title: "Taking the Constitution to the People—A Nation-Wide Contest and Its High Aim: A More General Knowledge and Better Appreciation of the Principles of Constitutional Government."

In January of last year, a group of citizens of California, among them Mr. Eugene E. Prussing, a lawyer of Los Angeles, conceived a novel idea for getting the Constitution really read and appreciated. They took this plan to Mr. Harry Chandler of the Los Angeles Times. Their proposal was to increase knowledge of the Constitution by a series of public speaking contests conducted simultaneously throughout the secondary schools of Southern California.

As a result, on February 18, 1923, an announcement appeared in the newspapers inviting all public, private and parochial students from the seventh grade up through the last year of high school to compete for a prize of $1,000 to be awarded for the best oration on the Constitution of the United States. No student over nineteen years of age was eligible because the dominant purpose was to awaken the interest of young boys and girls, alert and enthusiastic Americans.

HAD NO PUBLICITY

For eight weeks the contest went strictly on its own merits without any publicity aid at all. For that matter, there was never any artificial stimulus. Yet it produced startling results. During the months from February to June there were 7738 high school orators in fourteen counties of Southern California preaching the gospel of respect for our institutions. Boys as well as girls competed. Los Angeles alone had 517 enrolled. In one of the Bakersfield schools, 487 pupils out of a possible 1022, or 47 per cent, participated for the prize offered.

More numbers, however, do not tell the story of the contest's effectiveness. The principal thing was that it started discussions. When young John Allen, for example, began work on his oration, he enlisted the aid of his father and mother. With them, he lived again through the struggles between Hamilton and Jefferson. The public libraries were besieged. When they were exhausted respectively, finely bound editions from private libraries of the Federalist, Lord Bryce's "American Commonwealth," and Beveridge's "Life of John Marshall" came down from the shelves for honest and thorough reading. Thus John's father, who had always believed in our government without thinking, or reading much about it, found a new respect and personal allegiance for it. In the same way, Alexander Nevrouz, who was in John's class at school, but whose father and mother came to California from Armenia, entered the contest. As he studied and prepared for his oration and later delivered it at home, his parents learned from the lips of their own boy that they had become part of "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people." As a result, the Constitution was buttressed not only in the homes of its Anglo-Saxon friends, but among our new neighbors as well. The California contest captured the imagination of the public. It revealed the wide human interest and the surprising vitality of an educational undertaking which received its impetus not from the old but from the young.

NOW NATION-WIDE

Heartened by the success of the California experiment, Mr. Chandler and Mr. Randolph Leigh, who had done most of the executive work and who now directs the national campaign, thought in terms of the entire country. They appealed to leading publishers throughout the United States to assume the task of carrying the Constitution to the whole nation. Now for the first time in the history of American journalism scores of representative newspapers are banded together to carry out an educational campaign devoid of political bias and entirely free from any commercial aspect. The project is financed by the participating newspapers themselves. But it has no promotion feature. It is a genuinely unselfish contribution on the part of newspaper publishers toward better citizenship.

To aid them in the work, the newspapers have enlisted the cooperation of all school authorities. Trustees, superintendents, principals and teachers themselves have been invited to sit on advisory councils and serve as judges with governors, Senators, and others who have pledged their support. The response has been so startlingly unanimous that the schools and the newspapers are now moving as a unit in this endeavor.

FORM SEVEN ZONES

For practical purposes, the United States has been divided into seven zones centering in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Atlanta, Kansas City and Los Angeles. Each of these seven zones is divided into forty-nine districts. The contest will start with the class as a unit. Throughout all the schools in all the zones there will be a simultaneous and systematic elimination until the winner in each school is named. The school winners thus selected will compete for a district prize. It will consist of $50 in cash, which the winner will receive regardless of his subsequent fortune in the process of elimination. The district champion will go through semifinals and into finals to determine the champion of the seven major zones. The reward to each zone champion will be a total of $1,000 in prizes.

After June 1 the zone winners will gather in Washington, where the President and the Congress will witness a contest for the national awards. Mr. Coolidge will preside at the final meeting and the judges will be nine of the highest dignitaries in the land. The first prize will be $2,500, the second $1,000, and the third, $500.

ALL CO-OPERATE

A list of suggested subjects for orations includes: The Constitution; Washington and the Constitution; Hamilton and the Constitution; Jefferson and the Constitution; Madison and the Constitution; Marshall and the Constitution; Webster and the Constitution; and Lincoln and the Constitution.

To arouse among the students of this generation interest in the Constitution, and in these men whose lives were given to it, is the central idea of the whole project. But it inevitably reaches wider than that. Because in addition to the work in the schools, the newspapers in each territory will devote much time to the presentation of the subject before fraternal, social and business organizations. They will organize speakers' bureaus and furnished information whenever it is requested. In like manner, from now until May the newspapers will run series of articles by eminent educators and publicists dealing with the subjects and personalities to be discussed in the orations. These articles will be offered primarily as an aid to the contestants. But they will not merely facilitate the work of the orators. They will also add to the store of public knowledge. Thus the newspapers will, for their being, become a kind of people's university, majoring in good government. That will be their great co-operative noncommercial contribution toward sounder Americanism.

AID TO AMERICANISM

At a time when the very existence of orderly government seems shaken in almost every quarter of the globe, the necessity is more grave than ever before, that the American people have a keener knowledge and appreciation of their institutions. In particular they should understand those elements in our system of government which have brought us to a commanding position among all the nations of the earth.

If popular government is not merely to endure but prosper, then it is essential that there be the most widespread knowledge on governmental subjects and a vigorous willingness to uphold the principles that experience has proved worth while. This contest seeks to spread that knowledge and quicken that enthusiasm by utilizing the young people of America. It is launched with the conviction that oratory is essentially a young art and that it can be most effectively employed by those who are young, young in years and young in heart. Emphasis is placed on the value of having young people acquaint themselves with our institutions and then act as the apostles of Americanism to their fellow-citizens.

E. C. MARTIN TO SPEAK

E. C. Martin, head of the department of political science of the University of California, Southern Branch, will be the principal speaker at today's Hollywood Lions' Club luncheon. It has been announced. The meeting will be in the Glen Ellen tea room in Hollywood.

cans, accusing them of raising $2 bills to $200, were issued yesterday by United States Commissioner Long following a raid on a North Main-street rooming-house where the prisoners are asserted to have their headquarters.The three, Manuel Valencia, Albert Pardo and Joseph Torres, were taken to the County Jail in default of $5000 bond. Valencia and Pardo are said to have been recently released from the Federal penitentiary, where they had been serving time for a similar crime.Secret Service Agent Ashe has been directing a hunt for the men for the past month, at which time the first bogus $20 bill made its appearance. According to his statement the counterfeiting was done cleverly, necessitating examination by an expert. Scores of merchants in the north end of town have been victimized, he said.With Detective Lieutenants Jones and Edwards the secret service agents were led to the rooming-house by an informant. Pardo was arrested there and at the time of the raid a bill at the time of

POLICE ASSAULT CHARGED

Burbank Chief and Patrolman Accused of Attack on Youth; Will Surrender TodayChief of Police J. H. Long of Burbank and Patrolman William Bates of the same town were accused of assault with a deadly weapon in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist. Atty. E. J. Connelley.The complaint sets forth that the two men were accused of brutally beating Floyd Hill, a Burbank youth arrested with several other young men Saturday on a charge of disturbing the peace.Chief Long and Patrolman Bates were informed of the charges against them yesterday afternoon by Constable Thomas and stated they would give themselves up to Justice Ballard this morning.The complaint sets forth that Hill, Robert O'Neal, Marshall Eyer and another young man were singing on a street corner at Burbank kicked him, the youth asserts.Saturday night. They were arrested and taken to the Burbank Jail. There, according to the charges, the officers attempted to search Eyer but he objected. Hill is said to have walked over to Eyer and told him not to make a fuss.Chief Long and Bates then proceeded to beat him for interfering, according to the complaint. He was knocked down and Chief Long kicked him, the youth asserts.PROSECUTOR FLAYS ROTH Preliminary Argument in Trial of Attorney on Extortion Charge is Bitter ArraignmentOne of the bitterest arraignments of a defendant recently heard in a Los Angeles court was delivered yesterday by Dep. Dist. Atty.
John J. Hill in his preliminary argument in the case of Herman L.
Roth, Hollywood attorney, charged with extortion.Dep. Dist. Atty. Hill accused Roth of being a "blackmailer" and a "perjurer." He flayed the attorney for more than an hour and a half before the all-men rebel testimony of Dymond and Ancient Landmark at Harbor Meets Doom in Sweep of Progress as Channel is Widened(Illustration on Picture Page) Derelict Row has passed into Los Angeles Harbor history. The conglomeration of dilapidated shacks and ancient house-boats that has lined the Terminal Island shore of the main channel for forty years has been picked up bodily, one by one, by the towering crane of a derick barge and piled in a heap on a scow.The final end came yesterday when the odds and ends of driftwood from which the various units were pieced together were burned on Terminal Island as a sacrificial pyre to the progress of the Pacific's greatest port.Derelict Row was destroyed to make way for the suction dredges that are doubling the width of the main channel to 1000 feet and the removal of the ancient shacks and marks the beginning of the last stage of this $2,000,000 contract—the most important development work in the history of Los Angeles Harbor.NEAR END OF JOB

With the job already three-quarters finished, two giant suction dredges, the John F. McMullen and the John F. McMullen, are at work on the last of the contract. On the extreme south end of the project an advanced stage of construction already has been reached on the new $1,000,000 oil loading dock of the General Petroleum Corporation.OLD HULK BURNED
Also burned to make room for dredging operations was the hulk of the old tug Warrior, famous in the port's windjammer days, that later became the Bethel Mission, the only floating church on the Pacific.Four hundred acres of Terminal Island are being reclaimed by the material removed in the channel project, a project entailing the transfer through two dredge pipes of a section of port real estate 500 feet long, 500 feet wide and thirty-two feet deep.PLAN CITY

Male Garb Without Delection(Illustration on Picture Page)
There is little in this age of sheiks and shebas a man can do that a girl can't—even to the extent of making the world believe she is a man.Jean Sothorn, male impersonator, proceeded to demonstrate this yesterday. Donning a boy's suit, Miss Sothorn stuck a cigarette in her mouth, pulled her cap down over her forehead and walked jauntily out into the street swinging a cane.The first person she bumped into proved to be Patrolman Bernasek of the Central station. She asked him a number of questions.
The officer thought the young man appeared eminently but having had experience with other equally effeminate-appearing young men, he answered politely.Then Miss Sothorn, considerably annoyed at being stopped by a traffic officer and asked him for directions. Nothing happened.
She roamed the streets for about an hour without being detected.

DOUGHBOY SKIT
GREAT SUCCESSRadio Program is Arranged by Legion PostMusicians Entertain and Boys Tell JokesYoung Artist to Announce During Matinees

"Homeward Bound," the community program arranged by the California Hut, American Legion Post No. 213, last night under the supervision of Mrs. Fred L. Hite, was a great success. The skit was a hit of the life of the boys in the recent war, en route to Brest in a box car and on a transport, as the boat nears New York. Songs, jokes and friendly banter were exchanged among the boys, while entertainers on the boat provided amusement for them. Dr. Thomas Lutzman took the part of chaplain, in an address to the soldier boys as their transport came into sight of Long Island. Norma Gregg was among the entertainers.

Glenn Hood, Yosemite songster, entertained with various numbers. Lillian Althouse, saxophonist, accompanied by Grace Trowbridge Cox, played several numbers charmingly. She is another of those enterprising persons determined to show that the saxophone can produce beautiful music if properly played. "Valse Caprice" was of special interest, as it was composed by Kathryn Thompson, friend of Radioland, and leader of the Southern California Saxophone Band.

Janet Norman McIntyre, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Barsha, sang several numbers charmingly. Although she was new to Radioland until her appearance last night, she was at once welcomed into the big family of entertainers.

BAND PLEASES AUDIENCE

The Golden West Community Band, under the direction of R. H. Ferline, played several selections that pleased their audience. The doughboys were delighted with the music.

Irene Kircher, playing her own accompaniment, was very amusing in "Blue" songs.

The noon program presented White's Californians, of Whittier. This orchestra is distinctive in its rhythmic melody. The members are: Steve White, leader and cornet; Nicholas Ochoa, pianist; Lloyd Greve, saxophone; I. A. Bunce, trombone; Van Rep Stevenson, banjo; Richard Farrell, drums; and Bert Collins, banjo.

At 1 o'clock an address by Dr. R. H. Von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California, at a luncheon of the Advertising Club and Better Business Bureau, was broadcast. It was a great privilege for K-H-J to be able to give its audience the pleasure of this address.

For ten days, Claire Forbes Crane, concert pianist, was honorary announcer on the K-H-J matinee programs. So many congratulations have been received on her success as an announcer, that it has been decided to give Radioland a chance to become better acquainted with many of its friends. In accordance with that plan, from time to time various artists will announce the matinee programs for a period of ten days.

SEN GREG WILL ANNOUNCE

Norma Gregg, who will announce during the matinee concerts for the next ten days, is a young woman of rare attainments. In addition to her splendid soprano voice, she is a writer of verse. Yesterday afternoon she succeeded in putting her personality into the afternoon's entertainment. Her singing displayed all the warmth and beauty of tone that has endeared her to Radioland on her previous appearances at K-H-J, as well as an added quality that made her voice doubly pleasing.

Ella Conyers Matthews, reader, gave two interesting little verses that were entertaining. "An Order

Charles W. Pettit, blind accordionist, gave several pleasing solos. His appearance was a delightful surprise to Radioland.

White's Californians have added dance numbers that were, if anything, more spirited than those on their nonstop program.

When the Children's Hour came the little ones of the Radioland family were rubbing their eyes to keep awake, protesting that they could not possibly be sleepy until the Sandman's visit had ended and he was stealing silently among them with his dream-bringing powder.

LEARN MANY THINGS

When at last his cheery whistle was heard, then they were indeed wide awake. Many were the interesting things they learned, for tiny Titania, queen of the fairies, told them how she called mortals to her, and why she comes to K-H-J each week. Most of us have forgotten to wonder at the fairy queen's willingness to broadcast over the radiophone in our joy at hearing her voice and imagining her dainty features. When she revealed the fairy secret of happiness, not only children resolved to make use of the information. The jolly Sandman told more of the adventures of the "Weather Children," and many a youngster must have wanted to be one of these happy children after hearing him.

Mother Trevor revealed a great secret when she told where the fairies could be found, but she will surely be repaid for it in the knowledge of the interest of all the little ones of Radioland in finding them. The great attraction of the evening was another invitation to visit Fairyland from Queen Titania. From the crowds that responded to a recent invitation issued over K-H-J, it might be well to warn the little queen that Fairyland would be dreadfully crowded if she made her invitation unlimited.

Mildred Ware, contralto, accompanied by Edyth Petesch, sang several charming solos. She has had much experience as a concert and oratorio singer in the East and Middle West, and was contralto soloist with the Ogden (Utah) Choral Society for five years.

Dorothy Hendrix, 10-year-old cornetist, accompanied by Mrs. Trotter, both played several difficult numbers.

MASS MEETING PROGRAM

Community beautification and the establishment of parks and playgrounds will be the principal subjects discussed at the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce mass meeting, scheduled for March 6, according to announcement made yesterday by Dr. Willie Martin, chairman of the chamber's open forum committee. The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Hollywood library.

DRIVE UPON DRUG PERIL
FURTHEREDNarcotic Education Body Will Seek Members and Money for Work

With the plan of furthering the nation-wide fight against the drug peril, a campaign for financial support and memberships has been launched by the International Narcotic Education Association.

The campaign activities will be centered in the week of March 17, under the direction of Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson and an executive committee made up of members of the association's board of directors and board of trustees, including Harry Chandler, Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, Mrs. Hancock Banning, Charles C. Chapman, George I. Cochran, Arthur H. Fleming, Irving W. Hellman, William G. McAdoo, John G. Mott, Edward A. Dickson, A. B. C. Dohrmann, J. W. Jameson, Alphonso E. Bell, F. W. Braun, A. A. Daugherty, Mrs. F. W. Farwell, H. C. House, Malcolm McNaughton, G. C. Young, Will D. Gould and Bishop B. W. Stevens.

This committee is to be expanded into a campaign organization of 100, its personnel including a group of the Southland's most prominent men and women.

Capt. Hobson, who is leading this concerted movement to abolish the menacing evil of narcotics, sets forth its purposes in the following statement:

"The Narcotic Education Association is fighting the narcotic peril by prevention through education, education in the schools and colleges and education in the home."

"It is establishing narcotic education work throughout the country, seeking to standardize narcotic instruction in the schools and to place literature on the peril of narcotics in the homes and through a quarterly periodical to keep the families informed of new developments and dangers."

"It asks financial support to enable it to carry on its work of research and its educational program to all of Los Angeles city, Los Angeles county, California and America."

"It has the same service for all, regardless of religion, politics and other differences, so it asks all to become members to join in the fight against the common foe threatening the very foundation of society."

"It reaches Europe and Asia, as well as America, in its research activities, in the following lines: To study the various causes and treatments; and the practical and aesthetic drugs and their effects on the system; to aid in the discovery of antidotes for narcotic habit forming drugs; to study the legal side of the narcotic problem; to co-operate with bodies interested in solving the narcotic problem by legal methods; to study the method of the prevention of the spread of narcotic drug addiction."

"The results of its research work will be available to teachers, to children, to parents in the homes, to organized groups and members of the International Narcotic Education Association—thus preventing the spread of the narcotic evil through the dissemination of scientific knowledge."

Parley Called on Seal Beach
Gas Plant Site

The California Railroad Commission has sent a letter to the officials of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation and of the Municipal Bureau of Power and Light inviting them to attend a conference called by the commission to discuss the efficiency of the location of the gas company at Seal Beach for its new steam-generating plant.

The commission's letter admits that Chief Electric Engineer Scattergood, sworn foe of the gas company, has declared that the company's plant should not be built at Seal Beach, yet the commission admits that it has no jurisdiction in the matter and no power to prevent the building of the company's plant, nor to force a change of location.

Officials of the gas company have declared that they would build the Seal Beach plant to give service to their customers despite the expected opposition of the Bureau of Power and Light.

JURY DISMISSED
IN BRIBERY CASE

JAPANESE IS ACCUSED OF GIVING MONEY TO POLICEMAN

A jury of seven women and five men failed to agree yesterday in Judge Walton B. Wood's department of the Superior Court in the case of Y. Inosaka, accused of bribing a police officer, and was dismissed. The jury was out about two hours and as court adjourned for the day, announced that after ten ballots, they still stood nine to three for acquittal.

The indictment charged that on December 3, 1933, Inosaka, taken in custody on charge of possession of intoxicating liquor, gave to Officer T. J. Dunn $225 to influence him to be lenient or release him.

According to the testimony of the defendant he thought he was giving the money as bail, and when fined in Police Court at Los Angeles Harbor asked if the bail money could not be applied on the fine.

Inosaka will come up in court Monday morning for the setting of the new trial.

She can't stop to listen—

This young woman has bought a pair of shoes. She needs, or will soon need, some fancy hosiery, a pair of pumps, and other feminine requisites that this store has.

But she is in a hurry and can't stop to hear about them now.

Suppose you were this merchant. Would you let her leave without an effort to sell her some other articles?

She can't stop to listen to your story—but she can take away, and when she has time, she will read it.

She is going to buy that hosiery and those pumps—somewhere.

An attractive little folder or booklet, enclosed in the package she is carrying home, would remind her, just as you would have reminded her if she had not been in a hurry, that you sell those very articles she needs.

A few good pictures in that folder or booklet would show them to her—just as you would have shown them to her—if you'd had the chance.

A well prepared and attractively printed booklet or folder enclosed with every package that leaves your factory or store would interest the buyer in other articles you make or sell.

Furthermore, it would probably be seen and read by the buyer's family, and perhaps her friends and neighbors also.

And, as more people become interested in your product, more people will buy it.

Ask your printer to show you examples of package enclosures that are building business for others. Some of these may suggest a kind that should be profitable to you.

Evangeline Booth Reveals Passion for Souls

Says Army Ready to Serve Need of Humanity

Tears Show Gratitude for Support of Cause

A vast machine, composed of devoted men and women, and manipulated by the hand of God, in which dollar bills are transmuted into food, clothing, houses, penitential tears, smiles of joy and redeemed human souls—that is the Salvation Army as described by Evangeline Booth, head of the organization in North America, who spoke at the Alexandria, yesterday before 100 representative citizens of Los Angeles.

Those present, including leading officers of the Salvation Army in Southern California, were the guests of the local Salvation Army advisory board, consisting of Harry Haldeman, Henry O'Neil, Charles H. Toll, W. M. Garland, Frank Ryan and Harry Chandler.

Harry Haldeman presided and spoke briefly, as did other members of the advisory board, of excellent records of the Salvation Army both in war and peace time. Each speaker stated that not only the poor but all society benefits by the work of the valiant army of Christian soldiers, declaring that from a standpoint of social economy as well as from altruistic motives it behooves all right-thinking citizens to lend the army their heartiest support.

VOICES GRATITUDE

"No one better realizes the deficiency of language than those whose hearts are stirred by the feeling of gratitude," said Miss Booth. "And I am here to try to express to you all the gratitude which the army feels for your financial assistance and your heartfelt sympathy for us in our endeavors to bring physical comforts and spiritual joy into the lives of those whose bodies are wasted for want of bread and whose hearts are hungry for truth."

"It is good to know that the fact of success has not hardened your hearts and that you remember with sympathy that takes substantial form, the miseries of those less fortunate than yourselves," continued Miss Booth. "It is gratifying, also, to note that society is recognizing more and more the necessity for special organization for special work. I am sure that the desire of all you, whose character and perseverance has helped to lift you to positions of trust, is to do as much good as you can for those who are most in need."

"However, this work of feeding the hungry and housing the poor cannot be done best through individual effort. At best, such efforts often mean a duplication of charity, defeating the aims of the donor. In the Salvation Army you have at your disposal a machine composed of men and women devoted heart, hand and soul to the welfare of the physically and spiritually needy. They are here to have all but lost hope yet whose salvation sheds light on humanity and brings gladness to the heart of God."

Tears born of gratitude and devotion filled the eyes of the speaker as she told of the humble birth of the Salvation Army in a little side street of London half a century ago and of how, under the guiding hand of God, the organization has grown "from a tiny candle to a glorious sun."

THE GREAT PASSION

Miss Booth seldom makes an address without referring to her father, the grand old man who once headed the Salvation Army of the world. Yesterday was no exception. She mentioned his visit to King Edward and of how he smiled at the King and said: "Your Majesty, the passion of some men is art, of others, philosophy, pleasure, money. My passion is man."

"It is for the immortal soul of man that we plead and work," concluded the speaker. "It is for the soul of man, that outweighs in worth all the treasures of earth and sea and sky, that we ask your continued assistance and your prayers. Do not forget us—and please, please do not forget the cause for which we fight."

Miss Booth and her staff, headed by Col. W. F. Jenkins, will leave Los Angeles tonight for New Orleans. It was announced yesterday that the corner-stone laying ceremonies for the $12,000 Scandinavian Corps Building, at 524 West Sixteenth street, will be conducted at 2 p.m. next Friday. Commissioner Adam Gifford will officiate. The public is invited.

MRS. ROGERS ENTERS PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

TRIAL OF WOMAN ACCUSED OF SLAYING HUSBAND SET FOR MARCH 20

Mrs. Lella Rogers, accused of the murder of her husband, William Rogers, at their home in the latter part of January entered a formal plea of not guilty yesterday before Superior Judge Hahn. Trial was set for March 20, next.

It is understood the defense of Mrs. Rogers, who is an expectant mother, will be that her husband threatened to take her life.

The shooting in which her husband was killed took place at their home on South Towne avenue.

THREAT OF DEATH CHARGED BY WIFE

Doris Barbara Mitchem yesterday filed suit for divorce against Paul Henry Mitchem, charging her husband tore up her sealskin coat and then threatened to kill her with a revolver if she told her parents about it. Three days after the wedding they had a quarrel over money matters, the complaint sets forth, further stating that her husband beat her on that occasion.

YANKEE BOGEY

Mission of Former Senator Starts Speculation

Southern Nation Sees Plot to Corner Industry

Monopoly Scheme Held Plan of American Group

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[N.Y.—(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCHES)]
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19.—James Hamilton Lewis, former Democratic Senator from Illinois, since his arrival here seven days ago on a mysterious mission, has become the chief figure before the public of the Mexican capital, surpassing all other celebrities because of the approaching Presidential elections. Newspapers here have devoted more space to the former senator than they have to the revolution.

Reports that he is representing the "tobacco trust" in a legal capacity have subjected the picturesque American to the severest criticism by editorial writers on papers here and representatives of Mexico's tobacco interests. The Morning Excelsior asserts Lewis is the most likely candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Vice Presidency at next year's elections. Other columns devote space to speculation regarding his purpose in visiting Mexico and his activity here.

KEEPS HIS SECRET

Since Lewis arrived the Excelsior and other newspapers have surpassed themselves in an effort to relate the exact nature of his business.

When the former Senator was interviewed, he stated that he is here with "the knowledge and consent of the United States government." He refused at present to declare the nature of his business. He, however, said that "his people" will arrive shortly and there are many things to look into legal aspects to protect the intended proposal which should not be disclosed until it has been laid before the Senate of Oregon and the Mexican government.

The Canadian Pacific and several other large American railroads and shipping companies have mentioned among the principals backing Lewis. Summarizing his trip as published in newspapers here it amounts to nothing more significant than the investment of millions of dollars in development of the tobacco trust and large cotton, fruit and cattle raising operations.

KNOW OF CONTRACT

The Ministry of Finance admits that a contract involving practically a control of these industries has been submitted by Lewis to government officials. In presenting the contract it is said the government is to receive $25,000,000 in successive quotas, one of which is earmarked to go toward being deposited in a New York bank. It is understood that A. B. Wolvin, of the Wolvin Line, now in Mexico City, proposed to handle the deal.

The proposition is hailed generally in Mexican commercial circles as a monopoly. Leading newspaper editorials hint that anything of the nature of a monopoly is contrary to the Mexican constitution. An excelsior editorial states it would be better if openly establish a chartered company similar to the East India Company or the Ceylon Tea Co., instead of having the deal hidden.

Lewis immediately replied that it would be to place Mexico in the position of Cuba and Costa Rica, where the Cuban sugar and Fruit Company, which, from its commercial holdings, exercises a decisive influence on Cuban destinies, and finally would understand that in those countries are bound hand and foot to deliver all production, without cost to Mexico. He stated it also would provide hospitals and schools, take produce from point of production to the consumer, convey the same to the railroads and ports and finally would undertake the sale of all products at current market rates.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

The Minister of Finance officially stated that a contract has been received from Lewis. No official action has been taken as yet, he said.

Local Mexican merchants point out that such a scheme would ruin agriculture and existing tobacco factories. Some liken the proposal to "tentacles of an octopus gradually encircling Mexico's productive power for definite Yankee control."

Main Found in Ditch May Die; Quizzed by Police

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, Feb. 19.—Mystery surround—the discovery of Thomas J. Lockhart, 38 years of age, of 358 Roycroft avenue, Long Beach, in a ditch beside his truck on the track road between Wilmington and Redondo beaches near Los Angeles Harbor, early this morning. He was unconscious when found and Dr. Wm. E. Pennington, of Lomita who passed in their automobile. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital here where physicians pronounced him fractured and he may die.

Although the truck was overturned and an examination of accident had occurred was found, Long Beach police tonight stated certain angles of the case demand a full investigation.

The truck is the property of the Los Angeles Marine Traffic Service, located at 670 S. Broadway, Redondo Building, Los Angeles. The victim has a brother, William Lockhart, 32 years old, residing at 123 N.

RED MEN TRIBES READY TO MEET

TULARE, Feb. 19.—The valley-wide Red Men meeting is scheduled to be held in Tulare early in March, according to announcement. Early in the month, the Kaweah Tribe expects to complete its campaign for twenty-five new members, and hold a monster initiation, to which all tribes of the valley will be invited. A feature of this adoption will be the visit of the Great Council degree team, which seldom appears in valley cities, its appearance here being considered an unusual attraction. The second meeting will be the quarterly powwow of the San Joaquin Valley Red Men's Association during the latter part of the month. Several hundred Redmen are expected to gather here at that time to decide a number of important matters.

TULARE DAIRIES. Combined January pay rolls of institutions handling dairy products in Tulare amounted to $291,365.38, according to report. The January total is about $1000 less than that for December, which was $292,449. Both prices and production remained at about the same level during the month.

The feed situation is still quite uncertain, owing to continued dry weather, according to local authorities, but production has not been affected as yet. January churning cream brought 56 and 57 cents, sweet cream 61 and 62 cents, and 63 to 64 cents. In December churning cream brought 57 cents, sweet cream 61 and 62 cents, and 63 to 64 cents.

The firms included in this report are the Dairyman's Co-operative Creamery, Los Angeles Creamery, Alameda Ice Cream Company plant at Tipton, Paige Creamery and the Peacock Ice Cream Company plant in Tulare.

YEAR BOOK STAFF. PORTERVILLE, Feb. 19.—The staff for El Grande annual year book of the Porterville Union High School, has been elected as follows: Editor, Gaylord Huber; first assistant, editor, Donald Kellan; second assistant editor, Vira Baker; business manager, Eugene Tyler; assistant business manager, Ralph Vincent; exchanges and circulation, Dorothy Miller; boys' athletics, Lawrence Means; girls' athletics, Marjorie Cornell; jokes, Kenneth Correll; art, John Van Buskirk; society editor, Esther Farns.

FUNDS FOR PLAYGROUND. The Porterville City Council has voted $180 for improving and developing the playground of Olive street, which is under the jurisdiction of the playground commission. The Council has also agreed to pay electric light bills, following installation of the equipment by the Porterville Edison Club and the Porterville Electric Company. This ground will be open to the public at night. The public playground service, under direction of Miss Edith Thielke, has proven popular with the children. Miss Thielke will give her services to the Morton-street school for one afternoon each week.

STILL PACKS ORANGES. ORANGE COVE, Feb. 18.—The Orange Cove Citrus Association plant is still running and packing navel oranges. This house has packed ninety-one cars of navel oranges to date this season, and growers are continuing to bring fruit in to the house. The plant will continue operation for some time yet, according to J. F. Wright, president of the association. Henry Cheek, foreman, is preparing for the opening of the Valencia season, which is expected about the first of April. The Valencia crop shows virtually no damage here.

VERBENAS FOR CURBS. LINDSAY, Feb. 19.—As part of the city beautiful plans conceived by the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce, Secretary C. O. Griffin has announced that verbenas plants will be supplied to all who wish after March 15 for the planting on curbs and near sidewalks. In the meantime he urges that the ground be spaded and fertilized. This winter verbenas are expected to add much to the appearance of the city.

POLICEMAN BRINGS SUIT FOR WAGES

Former Traffic Officer of Kern County Assests
Salaries Are Due

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 19.—L. F. Galyen, former Kern county traffic officer, today brought suit in the Superior Court to collect $2,623.44 from the county in salaries which, he alleges, are due him and other traffic officers for services rendered within the last two years. The officers were not paid for their services. Claims of other traffic officers have been assigned to Galyen for collection, according to the complaint.

Former traffic officers who assigned their claims to Galyen, the complaint sets forth, are R. M. Beards, E. M. Mathison, W. R. Cochran and W. E. Snell. Mathison and Beards are now serving terms in the Kern County Jail for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, having pleaded guilty last December in the Federal District Court at Fresno. Yesterday they pleaded guilty in Superior Court here to bribery charges brought by the local authorities and applied to the court for probation.

Snell, who formerly was head of the county motor-traffic squad, now is an assistant to Federal Probation Agent Thomas J. Nicely at Fresno. Cochran is now city motor officer. Galyen is a patrolman in the city police department. NEW TAFT POSTMASTER. TAFT, Feb. 19.—C. Z. Irvine this morning took charge of the Taft postoffice. For the past week Irvine has been in the postoffice hearing his duties from A. C. Parsons, his predecessor.

CHILDREN CUSTODY FIGHT UNIQUE

Seeks Offspring She Signed Away

Mrs. Albert Dockrell

MRS. ALBERT DOCKRELL, both relinquish their parental rights, and the children be placed by her mother in Pomona. On November 20, 1923, she married Albert Dockrell and now wants the children.

Mrs. Dockrell on the stand stated that she made many trips to see the children, but they were seldom home, and further produced a letter purporting to state that Mrs. Van Der Fleet did not wish her to see the children.

An interesting point has been raised as to whether a parent may legally sign away by stipulation his or her parental rights before, pending or after a divorce.

According to testimony of Mrs. Dockrell, Van Der Fleet obtained a divorce from her in October 25, 1923, on a charge of desertion, and shortly after that she entered into a contract with him that they both relinquish their parental rights, and the children be placed by her mother in Pomona. On November 20, 1923, she married Albert Dockrell and now wants the children.

both relinquish their parental rights, and the children be placed by her mother in Pomona. On November 20, 1923, she married Albert Dockrell and now wants the children.

Mrs. Dockrell on the stand stated that she made many trips to see the children, but they were seldom home, and further produced a letter purporting to state that Mrs. Van Der Fleet did not wish her to see the children.

An interesting point has been raised as to whether a parent may legally sign away by stipulation his or her parental rights before, pending or after a divorce.

According to testimony of Mrs. Dockrell, Van Der Fleet obtained a divorce from her in October 25, 1923, on a charge of desertion, and shortly after that she entered into a contract with him that they both relinquish their parental rights, and the children be placed by her mother in Pomona. On November 20, 1923, she married Albert Dockrell and now wants the children.

Funeral Rites for H. F. Morris Set for Today

Funeral services for Hamilton F. Morris, for many years general cashier and paymaster of the Rock Island Railroad in Chicago, who died suddenly of heart disease Sunday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Gale, 122 North Cedar street, will be held today at 2 p.m. Interment will be at the Forest Lawn cemetery.

Mr. Morris was a past commander of the Knights Templar of Topeka, Kan., and a member of the Ingleswood Commandery, Chicago. The Glendale commandery will have charge of the services. Rev. Milton S. Runkle reading the Episcopal burial service.

Mr. Morris was born in Cincinnati August 4, 1855. He leaves a widow, three sons, Charles L. Morris of Minneapolis, Archibald M. and Robert H. Morris of Chicago, and two daughters, Helen E. Morris of Chicago and Mrs. Margaret Hutton of Wollister, Mass. He was the only brother of Mrs. Charles E. Stanley and Mrs. Margaret M. Gale of Glendale.

Pair Accused of Sending Son for Liquor Are Held

Elsie Barnes and her husband, Geo. Barnes, Belvedere, yesterday were held to answer by Judge Archibald of the Juvenile Court to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of their 13-year-old foster-son, Stewart. They are accused of having sent him to a bootlegger's house with an order for liquor.

The testimony at the preliminary hearing yesterday showed that Stewart had taken a dollar bill and a note signed by him (the message did not mention liquor) and on his way to the asserted bootlegger's house when he was intercepted by a patrolman of the District Attorney's office.

Barnes sought to fix the blame for his predicament on the youth, who, he said, returned home with money in his pocket and liquor on his breath. He stated that on one occasion he had found a bottle partially filled with liquor in the nest of a setting hen.

The Barnes were released on their own recognizance, pending trial of the case.

MAN BELIEVES WIFE

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

As a result of what was reported as an attempt at suicide, Mrs. Genlynn Warner, 21 years of age, living at 125 Gilead street, is in the City Hospital where she is being treated for a severe case of nervous prostration. Her husband, Mr. Warner, returned home tonight and found his wife lying in a pool of blood, where the gas heater had been left on. He immediately summoned the ambulance, and she was taken to the hospital.

There is evidence before the court that the custodian of the child had poisoned her mind against her mother and had attempted to sequester her person.

"There is evidence before us," wrote Presiding Justice Frank G. Finlayson, in his opinion, "that Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins have formed a settled purpose to teach the child to shun her mother's presence and to shrink from her in affliction."

The child's present unfriendly attitude is unnatural, he said, and account for it only upon the theory that it was engendered by words and acts on the part of respondent (Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins) designed to poison her mind against her mother, who, though she may have sinned, was a young woman, and has gone down into the valley of the shadow of death that her child might be born.

Associate Justices Work and Craig concur in the opinion, which overturns an order of the Superior Court handed down in July, 1923, by which the Jenkins were given what they supposed to be permanent custody of little Theresa Marie.

In order that the mother might have time to earn her living, she placed her baby with Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, paying them $12 a month for their services. "At no time," says the opinion, "has petitioner evinced any intention to abandon her infant daughter or to part permanently with the right to her custody and control."

After her marriage, she endeavored to have the child restored to her keeping. Meeting opposition, she used out a writ of habeas corpus. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins made answer and the Superior Court dismissed the writ, thereby awarding the child to its custodians. Disappointed, but still determined, the mother instituted the proceeding terminated yesterday, from which there is no further appeal.

Pending adjudication of the issue, little Theresa Marie has been in the care of the City Mother.

HUSBAND WINS DASH TO DIVORCE COURTS

Roy S. McTaggart and a child, Roy McTaggart, 10 years of age, were taken to the City Hospital where they are being treated for a severe case of nervous prostration. Roy was the son of Roy and his wife, who were taken to the hospital last night. Roy was found in a pool of blood, where the gas heater had been left on. He immediately summoned the ambulance, and she was taken to the hospital.

WOMAN DESIGNER OF CLOTHING ENDS LIFE

Mrs. Ada Bevans, 65 years of age, for many years a designer for Foreman & Clark, clothing manufacturer, took her life with arsenic yesterday in a hotel room at 421 West Fourth street, according to the report of Detective Lieutenants Jarvis and Craig. Mrs. Bevans destroyed most of her effects and papers, the police said, and left no note. Her health is assumed to have been the cause.

They kept faith, and after Rokas had become successful in Fresno, he sent to his home town for his wife and children. He waited in France for a month, however, and finally went to Greece to find Miss Ziotopulos. He met her there last December. In spite of the protests of their families, Mr. and Mrs. Rokas then departed to America, arriving last week in Fresno where they will make their home in the future.

LOVE NOTE BLAMED

Charles A. Schack caused his wife, Marie Schack, extreme mental suffering, according to her complaint for divorce filed yesterday. He wrote a note to her, she said, and then threatened to kill her. She also declared he told her one night he wished she would die tomorrow morning. In addition to that, the complaint continued, she found a letter among her husband's possessions addressed to "Dearest Sweetheart" and signed "Blanche."

According to the complaint, prepared by Attorney George H. Block, the couple were married June 10, 1906, and separated Feb. 8, 1923.

SCHOOL BONDS SOLD

Total of Three District Issues Taken at Premiums

The Board of Supervisors yesterday accepted the following bids for the sale of school district bonds in the county of Los Angeles.
